CHICAGO.

THE CINCINNATI EXCURSION.

A correspondent, gives in another column, a view of the Cincinnati Railroad excursion quite at variance with the currently received opinions of that affair. If the writer is to be credited, the notion which obtains at Cincinnati of the "freedom of a city" is certainly a novel one. We may remark that most of the Chicago excursionists seem to have returned with very much the impression indicated by this writer. Perhaps this is owing to a too lively recollection of the way municipal hospitalities are dispensed in Chicago.

THE RECENT FROSTS—INJURY TO THE CROPS.

In another part of this paper we publish letters from correspondents in this State, and dispatches from Buffalo, Danville, Illinois, and Cleveland and Zanesville in Ohio, with regard to the heavy frost of Saturday last, and its effect on the crops. Fruit and green vegetables, as well as potatoes and other root crops are seriously injured, and in many places the corn crop is entirely killed. Some damage is done to wheat, to what extent is not yet known. It is thought by good judges here that the spring wheat is too far advanced to be much damaged; but late winter wheat must have sustained considerable injury. Our correspondent "Rural" states that the winter wheat in bloom must be more or less injured.

Late dispatches from Cincinnati and Pittsburgh report a severe frost on Saturday night, damaging the corn, wheat, potato and grape crops along the Ohio River.

The Rockford (Ill.) News contains over a column of items with regard to the damage to the crops. Its summary of the loss is as follows:—Corn, injured to one fourth of a crop; potatoes, one-fifth; tomatoes, entirely ruined; beans, three-fourths destroyed; cucumbers, half destroyed; plums, entirely destroyed; cherries, not much injured; currants, one-third destroyed; grapes, nine-tenths destroyed.

We have not yet heard of the extent of the damage along the Illinois River; but it is expected that it will be serious.

The effect of the news was visible yesterday on the New York markets, as well as in this market—especially on corn.

THE NATIONAL AGRICULTURAL FAIR.

We learn that the Executive Committee of the United States Agricultural Society have decided, or have brought their deliberations so near to a focus that they may be said to have determined, that their Fair may be held at Chicago this year, on compliance with the conditions which we published a few days since, to wit:

1. The grounds (not less than twenty-five acres) to be suitably enclosed, with such necessary buildings and conveniences as the President may direct; an abundant supply of water to be delivered upon the grounds, in tanks or hogsheads, for the use of horses, cattle, etc.; hay, straw, etc., as needed; an adequate police force; steam engine for driving machinery on exhibition; lights and band of music.

2. A guarantee that the receipts shall not fall below $17,000 which sum is necessary to cover the premiums, and the expenses incurred by the Society.

These conditions are trifling as compared with the direct pecuniary gain which would accrue to the merchants, hotel-keepers and the general business of the city, from the concourse of visitors who could be drawn together by so great an attraction. The indirect and permanent advantages resulting from the extensive acquaintance which such an event would create, need hardly be suggested. The guarantee of receipts to the amount of $17,000 has been required by the Society at each of the cities where it has held its fairs, but the sum has always been exceeded by the entrance fees, and there is no probability that any portion of it would have to be raised by contributions. We trust this opportunity may not be lost for want of prompt action on the part of our citizens.

A TRAIN OF CARS THROWN FROM THE TRACK.

CHICAGO EXCURSIONISTS IN DANGER.

On Saturday evening last, about seventy-five or eighty of the citizens of Chicago, who had been on the excursion to Cincinnati, started from that city in the Indianapolis and Cincinnati express train, bound homeward.—Everything went on smoothly till about fifteen minutes past nine o'clock, when the passengers felt a severe shock, and a most disagreeable jarring sound, followed by a slight tipping over of the cars, when the train came to a full stop. The cars were off the track, and on examination it was found that some miscreant had placed two logs or heavy pieces of timber right across the track, the one about ten rods apart from the other. The first log did its work—the other being left untouched. Fortunately, and most wonderful to record, none of the passengers were injured. The engineer and firemen were thrown several rods from the engine, and were some what, though not seriously injured. How they escaped is a miracle; for the engine was completely stripped and landed in the ditch a perfect wreck.

After it was found no one was injured, the passengers met in council to investigate the cause of the accident; and upon evidence furnished by several parties who lived in the neighborhood, suspicion was thrown on a man named Wm. Ford who lived about 200 yards from the place where the accident occurred. It appears that a short time previous he had two calves killed by a train, and ever since he had threatened to be revenged. It was also a suspicious fact, that while all his neighbors came down to the track as soon as they heard the crash, he did not make his appearance. After some consultation, it was thought advisable to send for him to come down, to "assist in relieving the sufferings of some parties who were injured," but he informed the deputation that he could render them no assistance. They asked him for "an ax to cut out the engine," but he replied that he "had no ax." This deputation returned and another and a larger one was sent to "bring him down." This time he consented; but not before he had fully armed himself and another man who worked for him, with revolvers and knives. A few questions were asked him about the logs found on the track; but he gave no satisfactory answers, and proceeded at once to try and prove an alibi by his man. His equivocations and replies not being satisfactory, upon a given signal, the men were secured and their pockets searched. In the breast pocket of Ford was found a six-shooter, full loaded, and on his man were found a single-barreled rifle pistol, also loaded, and a bowie knife. Among the passengers there was a strong disposition to "lynch" the men on the spot; but as no one was seriously injured, it was decided to take them to Indianapolis and lodge them in jail, where they were left in the morning.

The place where the accident occurred was about 40 miles on the other side of Indianapolis. As soon as possible, information was sent to Indianapolis, when a new engine and cars were dispatched immediately to the place, where they arrived about half-past four o'clock on Sunday morning. The Cincinnati and Indianapolis Railroad Company did everything in their power to render the passengers comfortable. A hand-car full of provisions of all kinds was sent from the next station, and distributed among them; and shortly after six o'clock they arrived at Indianapolis all right. The train at Indianapolis having waited for the Chicago passengers, they were put through without further detention, arriving here from Lafayette, in five hours and a quarter.

No blame could be attached to the railroad company for the accident. They had made every arrangement to send the excursionists through on quick time, and in good style—having provided them with excellent sleeping cars, and every requisite attention.

AN IMPORTANT DECISION.

We notice that the Supreme Court at its recent session in Ottawa, affirmed the decision of the Cook Co. Court of Common Pleas in the case McBride vs. the City of Chicago. The point involved was the power of the courts to interpose injunctions against the collection of special assessments ordered by the Council, and the decision declares that they cannot. The case was made by City Attorney Anthony on behalf of the corporation, who denied the power of the courts to interfere with collections as aforesaid.

A Pike's Peak Movement at Omaha.

The Racine Journal learns from a gentleman just returned from Pike's Peak, "that a printing office at Omaha, whose proprietors had been active in helping on the swindle, was demolished and thrown into the river by the enraged and deluded emigrants who had just returned from the West."

THE CITY.

☞ No Quorum at the Common Council Chamber last evening.

☞ The Superior Court came in session yesterday.

☞ C. P. Bradley has removed his Detective Police office, to No. 105 Randolph street.

☞ See advertisement of Bininger's Old London Dock Gin.

☞ It is not believed that the new trial of Henry Jumpertz will take place earlier than September.

☞ The body of the lad Patrick Burke, drowned in the North Branch on Friday, has been found and an inquest held.

☞ The number of arrests in the South Division in May was 250; amount of fines, $1,12[illegible], beside costs.

☞ The Board of Supervisors for Cook County came in session yesterday and called the roll and adjourned to this morning.

☞ The Garden City Race Course has opened for the season, in a trot for a purse of $75. Three entries.

☞ The Largest and best Strawberries in town are at Crawford & Ingersoll, wholesale and retail, at No. 178 Randolph street.

☞ The Police Court gave a score of light cases yesterday, neither in spirit or letter varying from the usual phenomena of that dock.

☞ Yesterday was a gem of a day, worth the week of preparation it cost. June has recovered her temper, lost through the officiousness of the Michigan weather seer.

☞ We are glad to learn that Policeman Quinn, injured by a fall from the second story of the Armory to the ground, as before noticed, is in a fair way to recover.

☞ The work on the iron pile lighthouse, at the mouth of the harbor, attracts many curious visitors daily. The full height of the structure has already been reached.

☞ The Hyde Park Hotel is to be opened by Messrs. Taber, Hawk & Co., as the "double" of their princely Richmond House, about the 25th instant.

☞ The Westminster Church Strawberry Festival, at Metropolitan Hall this evening, deserves a crowded house and full returns. The cause is worthy, the occasion attractive—most attractive.

☞ The Metropolitan Hotel, as will be noticed elsewhere, is in new hands with mine host Skinner at the helm. It always has been a popular and well-kept house, but promises now even better than ever before.

POSTPONEMENT.—The excursion which was to have taken place to Lake Forest on the 9th inst., is postponed until Tuesday, the 21st inst., in consequence of other excursions conflicting with the above.

☞ The Illinois State Medical Convention (Old School) at Decatur to-day, will attract a numerous attendance of the Faculty. Prof. H. A. Johnson, of the Medical Department of Lind University, delivers the Annual Address on the subject of "Human Dissection."

☞ A butcher man named Lous Akeim has been arrested, believed to be the moving spirit whose taste for stolen swine awoke the active exertions of the lads now in custody for stealing hogs from Myrick's cattle yards at Cottage Grove. He has been held in $500.

☞ A man named John Rourke has been held to bail in $100 for stealing tools from Messrs. Eldridge & Balcom's lumber yard on the West Side.——Joseph Lauback, another votary of Mercury, the thieving god, is also in trouble for stealing pants from the store of J. Harvey, 79 South Clark street.

☞ A very good thing was done last evening by Officer Chapman, in arresting a noisy nuisance in the person of the boy who shouts at the entrance of Minstrel Hall, on Randolph street, to attract an audience for the ten cent show within. He has been a crying evil for some time past, and we trust has been heard the last of.

☞ Nutting's celebrated Fanning and Assorting Machine will be on exhibition to-day at Van Schaack's, No. 47, State St. It comes with recommendations of the very highest character from the East, and our Mechanics, Farmers and Grain Dealers should give it their attention and witness its wonderful sagacity in cleaning and assorting grain.

BROMBLE HOUSE.—The best hotel in Lafayette, Ind., is the Bromble House, kept by Bromble & Dale. Special arrangements have been made for the accommodation of persons visiting Lafayette, to use the Artesian Mineral water during the approaching season. Visitors will find airy and well furnished rooms and a well supplied table.

☞ The Recorder's Court came in session for the June term yesterday, with only a moderate list of cases. His Honor did not charge the Grand Jury. Some six cases were called yesterday, and dismissed.

Charles Ward, alias Young was arraigned and pleaded guilty to the larceny of a gold watch and a gold chain, two $50 bills and $20 in gold from John Sevanison of Minnesota, stopping at one of our hotels, a few days since.

The Journeymen Bricklayers in Council.—Strike or no Strike.

Last evening, pursuant to handbills widely circulated, there was a gathering of Journeymen Bricklayers at Dearborn Park, to consult and concert action in the matter of low wages and hard times.

The assemblage was a very fair turnout both in size and in spirit, and its tone as far as indicated was very creditable to the workmen represented, in number between two or three hundred. The wages of bricklayers in ordinary times we learn has ranged from two to two dollars and a half per day, but during the present season a dollar and a half is paid, the best workmen commanding scarcely more than that sum. This they complain of, and hence the movement which included the different nationalities, the Germans and Irish participating harmoniously in the irregular and informal discussions of last evening.

At the outset one or two speeches were made, but the chief action of the meeting was achieved in a mutual talk or discussion occupying the attention of little groups, and clusters to and from which the lesser constituent portions of the crowd moved, and were attracted now here and now there an earnest tone rose above the rest.

The crowd were all temperate, the average talk of the gathering was temperate, and all passed off as quietly as a meeting of our merchants at the Board of Trade Rooms.

A portion of the crowd were in favor of an immediate strike, to throw down the trowel and from this morning, wait to bring the employers to terms. This, we are glad to say, did not prevail, and was very strongly put down, partly because some of the workmen wished to do the same, but not thus not speedily, with the many; however, as we think, because they hoped and expressed a belief that a statement of the case, and the quiet formation of a Bricklayers' Association looking to such after, concerted action as might be agreed upon, would best meet the case.

The meeting is to be called for Thursday evening, at West Market Hall, when probably even more of these workmen will be present, and more deliberation and organization characterize the movement.

There is this point to be considered, forgotten or overlooked in most of the remarks made in our hearing last evening. We have to be sure a great deal of building now going on here. The whole town hums like a beehive, with the din of busy labor. Miles of our streets are being lined with area walls of masonry where the street is being raised to grade. Scores and hundreds of new structures are rising, and old buildings are being raised and basements built beneath them, and this in the tight times that are pressing on the entire community. Wages are lower than ever before and bread is growing dearer. It is hard for the laborer, but is better to have half a loaf than none at all, better to have even half pay than to be idle. No one can believe that but a tithe of the present call for the services of the mason and his aids would exist in Chicago but for the reaction of dull times which makes it cheaper to build than ever before.

Our brick-layers, our carpenters, our mechanics of all grades and classes, are finding an employment which, poor as it is, is denied them elsewhere, simply because capitalists elsewhere are waiting for better times to build. We believe there is an intelligent, active sympathy with our laborers—a sympathy that will deepen by the tone and temper of their gathering last evening. For ourselves, we could sincerely wish that the same building activity might be carried on to the music of contented, fully paid labor, but it would be a misfortune greater than that at present, if large projected building enterprises, and some already commenced, were laid over until another season, because the sole reason of their being built in the very face of hard times, cheap labor, was removed. The subject is not a light one for any of the parties interested.

SUMMER TRAVELING.—The traveling public will, many of them, rejoice that the charming interposition of a night on a superb steamer, is, the present season, to be sandwiched between the dusty day ride by rail, with all who desire it, as who will not in these hot days to come. The present arrangements of the Lake Erie and Buffalo Steamboat Company make connections with the Michigan Southern R. R. route precisely to this effect. Passengers can leave Chicago in the morning train, reach Cleveland that night in time to take one of the magnificent floating hotels, the City of Buffalo, Capt. Perkins, or the Western Metropolis, Capt. Pease, which will give them a cool, refreshing night's rest, and an early start eastward from Buffalo. The second night may be passed on the Hudson River, and the passenger awakes from his night's rest at his dock in New York City, "himself again," only more so, and ready for the day and its duties, exigencies, or pleasures. The traveling public cannot yet spare the luxurious, princely, though a trifle more leisurely mode of "human progress," the first class, well appointed steamer.

TURNING THE TABLES.—Margaret Myers was yesterday arrested on a charge of a larceny of a silver watch. The prosecuting witness was one Charles Flesher, who said that the watch belonged to a friend of his named Martin Hanson, that while he was at Margaret's house, she took the watch and said she would return it to the real owner. The woman, in defense, said that Flesher gave her the watch, and that she had pawned it for $4.50. Margaret's story was substantiated, and Justice Milliken, much to the surprise of Flesher, charged him with the costs of the prosecution, $2.76, (which he had just money enough to pay) and advised him to leave the city; Mr. F. not being favorably known to the police. The victim Hanson received from the woman the pawn ticket, and now has the privilege of getting his time-piece by paying principal and interest.

WESTMINSTER STRAWBERRY AND ICE-CREAM FESTIVAL.—The ladies of the Westminster Presbyterian Church, it will be remembered, hold their Festival this evening at Metropolitan Hall. The programme of the evening includes a floral concert, music by the Great Western Band, and an entertainment of strawberries and ice-cream. Those who did not have an opportunity of attending the recent floral concert, can now be accommodated—and those who may be detained by engagements in the early part of the evening, are particularly notified that the rooms will be kept open until 12 o'clock, so that all may have opportunity to be present. The tickets are only twenty-five cents.

FIRE ON SOUTH WATER STREET—Loss $6,000.—About half-past ten o'clock on Sunday evening an alarm sounded for the First District was caused by the destruction of the interior and stock of the Twine and Cordage store of J. L. Philbrick, No. 167 South Water street. The iron shutters of the store being closed, shut in the light and prevented the discovery of the fire until it was under advanced headway. The flames, by the exertions of the fire department, were confined to the main floor, and but little damage, save from water, was caused in the second story. The stock was valued at $6,000, and insured for $4,500, equally in the Continental, North American and Security offices of New York. The origin of the fire is a mystery.

☞ Among the humors of the Cincinnati excursion, the following "Free Pass" was presented on the return trip to a member of the party, an ex-physician of this city, whose heart is of the largest size, and thus comports exactly with his portly physique. It was presented with a speech by Professor Eddy, and received with applause loud enough to signal the train for three stations ahead.

FREE PASS.
Good for Dr. M—— to pass over this road at any time within the next ten days on a walk, trot, run, canter, single or double rack.

(On the Reverse.)
N. B. The Company expressly stipulate that the recipient waives all right of action against them for any damage he may sustain by breaking down any bridges on their route.

☞ The Mayor and Common Council of the city of Chicago have been invited by the Board of Managers to visit the Rose Hill Cemetery grounds, on Wednesday (to-morrow) morning, and for that purpose a special train will leave the Chicago and Milwaukee depot with the party at 9 A. M.

☞ The Milwaukee Cadets will visit our city on the Fourth of July, and on that occasion to be the guests of the Cadets of the 60th Regiment of this city, the latter to turn out at that time in their new uniform.

INSTALLATION SERVICES AT THE FIRST PRESBYTERIAN CHURCH.—This evening take place at the First Presbyterian Church on Wabash Avenue, the services of the installation of Rev. Z. M. Humphrey, as its pastor.

For a period of nineteen years, or since 1840, we believe, this church has had but two pastors, Rev. Mr. Bascom, succeeded by Rev. Dr. Curtis, the latter having for eight years filled the pastoral office, until his resignation last year for the Presidency of Knox College at Galesburg. The fact speaks well for the permanence of the pastoral relation in this society, as creditable to the worth of its pastors as to the good sense and fidelity of its people.

The Installation sermon this evening will be delivered by Rev. Henry Neill of Detroit. Installing prayer by Rev. Dr. Patterson of the second Presbyterian Church of this city, charge to the people by the late Pastor, Rev. Harvey Curtis, D. D.; charge to the Pastor by Rev. A. L. Brooks of the Third Presbyterian Church; Right hand of Fellowship, by the people; Benediction by the Pastor. The services will commence at 7½ o'clock.

RETURNED.—His Honor, Mayor Haines, Dr Egan, J. S. Buchanan, Mr. Parsons and their ladies, Dr. Dennison, Mr. Bross and several other of the Cincinnati excursionists returned to the city last evening by the Fort Wayne R. R. At Lima, they were met by the Rev. Dr. Patterson, who was just returning of the General Assembly at Wilmington. The train reached this city promptly on time, in thirteen and a half hours from Cincinnati. We have no room for our notes of the excursion this morning.

☞ The Horse Railroad was, on Sunday last, opened to Cottage Grove, and the cars ran full and overflowing from morning until night. Those who object to this thoroughfare for its Sunday travel, should have seen how on Sunday, at hours of going to and returning from church, the cars were thronged with gentlemen and ladies, who have been awaiting just such conveniences, to remove the only drawback of their pleasant homes in our Southern lake-shore suburbs.

ENGLISH PAPERS OF MAY 21ST.—The Illustrated London News of May 22st contains a fine view, printed in colors, of the new Boulevard Sebastopol in Paris; a colored picture, "Children Nut-gathering," copied from a painting by E. J. Cobbett; and many fresh illustrations of the war in Italy. Subscriptions received and single copies for sale by McNally & Co., 81 Dearborn street.

TO THE WASHINGTON CONTINENTALS.—You are hereby notified to be and appear at the hall of the Cadets (formerly the Light Guard Hall), corner of State and Randolph streets, on this Tuesday evening, June 7, 1859, to organize and elect officers and transact other business that will come before the meeting. All persons that are interested in forming this military company, are respectfully invited to be present at half past seven o'clock. By order, S. J. DAVENPORT, Major.

CHICAGO SABBATH SCHOOL UNION.—The second regular meeting of the Chicago Sabbath School Union, will be held at Trinity Church, on Madison street, near Clark, on Tuesday evening, June 7th, at 7½ o'clock. Question for discussion: "What are the qualifications necessary for a successful Sabbath School Teacher?"
R. M. GUILFORD, Sec'y.

STILL LOWER.—Read the announcement of the Pittsburg, Ft. Wayne and Chicago Railroad. Fare to Boston only $14; to New York, $12; Philadelphia or Baltimore, $10. Why, that is cheaper than staying at home. If the railroads can stand these rates, travelers can.

☞ The clothing found under the platform at the Illinois Central depot has been identified by several Lake street clothiers. The boy Trauffler has been held to bail for the larceny of the same.

PERSONAL.—Hon. N. H. Purple, Peoria, Ex-Gov. Wells, of Maine, Hon. P. H. Smith, Hon. T. F. Strong and Hon. M. C. Darling, of Wisconsin, are at the Briggs House.

MEANS ALL IT SAYS.—An advertisement appears in our columns to-day from A. M. Bininger & Co., 338 Broadway, which, we are well assured means as it says. It refers to an article which, though often abused, has great medical virtues and lawful domestic uses. "Bininger's Old London Dock Gin," dispensed by that long established house, had bona fide virtues as a cordial, and is strictly pure in its component parts, and where required at all, may be used with the fullest confidence. The name of that firm is a guarantee of the exact and literal truth of whatever they represent.—N. Y. Commercial Advertiser.

Deaths by Murder and Conflagration.

AFFAIRS IN UTAH.

ST. LOUIS, June 6.—The Overland Mail arrived last night.

Eight white men prospecting for silver near Honey Lake were killed by the Indians.

The house of Col. Stevenson at Red Bluff, was burned on the 11th. Stevenson's wife, another woman, and five children, perished in the flames.

The Arizonian of the 19th is filled with accounts of the proceedings of a band of Regulators, who had driven all Mexicans from Sonorita Valley, and committed several murders. The Americans at Tubac publicly denounce the outrages, and a company of troops had been detailed from Fort Buchanan to suppress further proceedings.

The Utah mail brings a proclamation from Gov. Cumming, commanding immediately to disperse various parties of Mormons associated together in a military capacity in the mountains surrounding Salt Lake Valley.

The Valley Tan complains that this proclamation was not put in the hands of Federal officers to execute, instead of the Territorial Marshal, and asserts that treason is as rife in the Territory now as before the advent of the army.

New York Murders.

NEW YORK, June 6.—A German named John George Myers murdered his wife yesterday morning by beating her with a smoothing iron, and stabbing her with a pair of shears. Myers has served one term in the State Prison for being concerned in the death of a man ten years ago.

No clue has been obtained to the mystery of the box, found in the Sound filled with dead bodies. The theory suggested, that the bodies might either have been medical subjects or bodies removed from Potters' Field for reinterment, are entirely exploded by a full investigation. The bodies have evidently been dead but a few days.

Last evening, the body of a very richly dressed woman floated ashore at Fort Hamilton. She had a profusion of jewelry, including three rings on her wedding finger, one of plain gold, the others of diamonds and pearls. The body was somewhat bruised, and evidently had not been in the water more than twenty-four hours.

The body of the woman found at Fort Hamilton is suspected, from description, to be that of the wife af Henry Halsey, of West Twelfth street. She has been missing since Wednesday, on which day she was detected by her husband in the act of writing a letter to a certain gentleman in Brooklyn. Her husband was arrested to-day, and taken down to Fort Hamilton.

On Saturday P. M. an affray occurred in Walker street, between Lewis Lapourt and Jas. Peager, boys, each about eight years old, which resulted in Peager's receiving a blow on the head from a stick, which caused his death during the succeeding night.

Yesterday morning the dead body of a German was found in the hall-way of a house in Johnson street, Brooklyn, with the top of his head blown off. The deed was committed by his wife while he was vainly attempting to enter the house. He had a knife with him, and from threats uttered the night before, it was no doubt his intention to have first killed his wife.

New York Items.

NEW YORK, June 6.—In the Supreme Court to-day, the Judge, on application of Mr. Ashmead, granted a writ of error and stay of proceedings in the case of Stephens, the alleged wife poisoner, for the purpose of carrying the matter to the Court of Appeals for review. In the same court, Jas. Shepard, who was sentenced to death a year ago for arson in the first degree, and appealed, was brought up on a writ of habeas corpus, and the sentence of the Court below affirmed, and the prisoner was sentenced to be hung on the 27th inst. The prisoner then engaged new counsel, Mr. Ashward, who intends to carry the case up to the Court of Appeals.

A young lady, daughter of Mr. Clark Smith, of Canterbury, Orange Co., New York, aged 19 years, was terribly burned on Friday last. She was preparing the fire for tea, when her clothes caught fire, and before the flames could be extinguished, she was blistered from head to foot. It is feared that her injuries will prove fatal. Her father and mother were badly burned in their efforts to rescue her.

A box containing the skeleton of a human body has been discovered by Mr. Wm. Ostrander, of Wiltwick, in that village. He was plowing in a field near the church when his plow passed over a box—on opening which the entire skeleton of a human body was found. This accidental discovery has created no little excitement there, and the discovery is regarded as evidence of some dark deed.

The Nova Scotia Telegraph and the Associated Press.

SACKVILLE, N. B., June 6.—The dilapidated condition of the Nova Scotia line renders it quite impossible to transact any business over it in a satisfactory manner. Nearly every report of European news from Cape Race is delayed east of this point from one to four or five days.

The City of Washington's news was obtained at Cape Race by the news boat of the Associated Press last Thursday. Late on Saturday afternoon the Nova Scotia line gave us about a quarter part of the report for the Press, then the wires ceased to work.

This P. M., the line was repaired and the reports again resumed, but before a word of news reached this point the wires near Picton again gave out for the third time, and nothing can be received to-night. This is the more provoking as the last part of the report is known to contain the one day later news telegraphed by the agents of the Associated Press at Paris, London and Liverpool to Cork. It is understood that the Newfoundland Co. have authorized Cyrus W. Field to send out an additional cable to extend from Cape Breton to Prince Edward's Island, thus avoiding Nova Scotia entirely and placing the whole line from this place to Newfoundland under the immediate control of the Newfoundland Company, and putting an end to the annoyances of the public, who are compelled to do business over the present shamefully mismanaged lines in Nova Scotia.

Damaging Frosts.

BUFFALO, June 6th.—A heavy frost occurred in this vicinity last Saturday night. It is feared it has done heavy damage to the fruit.—Accounts from the country towns report the crops badly damaged, and it is feared entirely ruined.

DANSVILLE, June 6th.—A heavy frost prevailed in this vicinity Saturday night, killing all the garden vegetables, corn and potatoes. It is feared also that fruits of all kinds have been cut off.

ZANESVILLE, June 6th.—A heavy frost occurred on Saturday night. Corn is entirely destroyed. Great many farmers are preparing to replant. Wheat is much damaged.

CLEVELAND, June 6.—A heavy frost occurred on Saturday night. The Wheat crop throughout Northern Ohio is badly injured. Corn, grapes and potatoes were badly frozen.

Shipwreck—Loss of 560 Lives.

NEW YORK, June 6.—The advices from Pernambuco represent that there has been a terrific storm on the coast of Brazil. The whole coast from Bahia southward, is covered with wrecks, and the loss of life was terrible.

A Brazilian frigate went down with over six hundred persons on board, only forty of whom were saved.

The yellow fever is reported worse than ever at Rio. People are dying by thousands. The devastation among the shipping was unparalleled. One English brig had lost five captains, and the sixth was sick and not expected to recover.

Terrible Effects of Lightning.

BANGOR, Me., June 5.—During the severe thunder-storm of Friday last, the house of Mr. L. S. Goss, at North Carmel, in this county, was struck by lightning, and a child of eight years was killed. The house of Mr. Wm. Sutherland, of Clifton, was also struck, and almost torn in pieces. The family, seven in number, were assembled in the kitchen, when the lightning carried the cook stove through into the cellar from the midst of the circle. No person was seriously injured.

A Severe Frost on Sunday.

CINCINNATI, 6th.—A severe frost on Sunday morning, extending over Ohio and the larger part of Indiana, did great damage to the growing wheat, corn and grape crops. The gardens are universally damaged.

PITTSBURGH, June 6th.—A severe frost on Saturday night greatly damaged the wheat, corn and potato crops; also some fruits.

Steamboat Burned.

NEW ORLEANS, June 4.—The steamer Piota, from Red River, was totally destroyed by fire this P. M., near Carrolton—the loss is stated at $15,000—the passengers were all saved, but it is reported that two of the hands were lost.

The bark Charm, from New York for New Orleans, with a cargo of lime, is on fire at Pass a Loutr.

Paul Morphy Beaten.

NEW YORK, June 6.—Paul Morphy was beaten to-day at Knapper's chess rooms in Broadway, by Mr. Thompson. Mr. Morphy, as usual, gave the odds of a knight, and, after a contest of two hours, gave up the game—his opponent having on the knight which was allowed him for odds.

Failure in the Cotton Trade.

NEW YORK, June 6th.—A despatch from Charleston, announces the suspension of Fraser, Trenholm & Co., who were largely engaged in the cotton and sugar trade. The house has an agency here and another in Liverpool.

Destructive Fire at Eaton, Ohio.

CINCINNATI, June 6.—Early on Sunday morning a fire in the main business part of the town of Eaton, Ohio, destroyed thirteen business houses. Loss $50,000; insured for $12,000.

Snow in Eastern Canada.

FARTHER POINT, C. E., June 5, 8 P. M.—There was a light fall of snow this A. M., and it is now raining heavily.

Democratic "Union and Harmony."

BANGOR, Me., June 5.—There was a violent struggle last evening at the Democratic City Caucus, between Administration and Anti-Administration sections in the election of delegates to the State Convention. After a scene of unexampled noise and confusion, the Anties prevailed, by 821 votes against 415.

Arrival of Steamer.

QUEBEC, June 6.—The steamer Indian from Liverpool, passed Farther Point at 3 o'clock this A. M., and will be due here at about 7 o'clock this evening. Her dates are no later than those received by the City of Washington, off Cape Race, and the dispatch made up for this point contains no further details of news.

Successful Trial Trip.

NEW YORK, May 5.—The Russian steam frigate General Admiral, returned to port to-day. Her trial trip has been an entire success. Passengers say she had a trial with the Vanderbilt yesterday, of five hours' length, and beat the latter at the rate of half a mile an hour.

Republican Victory in Connecticut.

NORWICH, CONN., June 6.—At the city election here to-day, the entire Republican ticket, headed by Mayor Prentice, was successful by 144 majority. The vote cast was very large.

Reduction of Railroad Fare.

CINCINNATI, June 6.—The Pennsylvania Central Railroad has reduced the fare from Columbus to New York to $10, and Boston to $12.

ILLINOIS INTEREST.

It is advertised in the New York papers of Saturday, that the interest accruing on the debt of the State of Illinois on the first Monday of July next will be paid by Mr. James Miller, Treasurer, at the office of Howe, Hamlen & Co., No. 95 Wall street, on and after the 5th prox. All interest not collected before the 5th day of August next, will be paid at the office in Springfield, in accordance with the provisions of the act of the last session of the Legislature.

A NEW COMBINATION.

We print in another column, an article from the Toronto Leader, in which great fear of the intentions of the United States toward Great Britain are expressed. The writer sees in the European imbroglio a chance for an union between this country, France and Russia for, among other things, dispossessing England of her American colonies. We invite the attention of our readers to the article in question, that they may see for themselves how like a fool a man can write when he's scared!

THE NEW GALENA BOARD AND THE CLINTON BRIDGE.

We understand that since the election of a new Board of Directors for the Galena & Chicago Union Railroad, the Clinton Bridge Company have resolved to push their work to completion with renewed energy. This bridge is designed to connect the Dixon Air Line branch of the above road with the Chicago, Iowa and Nebraska road, now about completed from Clinton to Cedar Rapids. The policy of the old Galena Board being adverse to the Clinton interest, exerted a depressing influence upon the bridge project, as well as upon the progress of the Chicago, Iowa and Nebraska road. Neither the Railroad nor the Bridge Company desired any aid from the old Galena Board, nor do they desire or ask any from the new Board. What they always have wanted was such a running connection between the Iowa and Illinois roads as would be mutually advantageous. This the old Board has uniformly of late refused; but the new Board is understood to be friendly to it. It was for this reason the Clinton people and those interested in the Chicago, Iowa and Nebraska Railroad regarded the election of the new Galena Board as a triumph, believing that it would not only secure the early construction of their bridge, but render certain also the extension of their line westward across the State of Iowa and northward to Minnesota. The reference made to the matter in our notice of the election of the new Galena Board last week was intended to convey this idea; such, also, was the meaning of the telegraphic dispatch published in the Eastern papers on Thursday morning last. No person interested in either of the Railroad Companies or in the Bridge Company could possibly have been misled; nor will the Democrat be able to make any capital out of its attempts to misrepresent the course of this paper on the subject.

THE RAILROAD WAR.

Despite the frequent assurances of the New York papers that the Railroad War is about to end in a general harmonizing of all conflicting interests, we see or hear of nothing which looks like the attainment of that result. On the contrary, every day that the settlement of the original difficulty is deferred, new causes of complaint spring up which make compromise more and more difficult; and what, a month ago was comparatively easy, is now almost impossible. The West is deriving great advantages from the cheap fares and freights which are now the rule; but it is no pleasure to her merchants and others to know that the roads that they are patronizing are doing more this year to throw doubt and discredit upon all railroad investments, than has ever been done in any one year before; and that the consequence of all will be a flat refusal of capitalists to lend their aid hereafter to the various enterprises in which the prosperity of the West is intimately concerned. It will be found that while a great saving has been made at the spiggot, there has been an enormous loss at the bung; and that while we are chuckling over the few dollars which each man is enabled to save because it pleases the New York Central or New York and Erie to carry merchandise and passengers for less than the actual cost of transportation, a death-blow is being dealt to the general railroad interest upon which all Western interests depend.

It is now probable that the war will continue until the stockholders of the competing lines take the affair into their own hands; and by the choice of new officers who have no personal feeling to gratify, put matters in train for a fair and honorable adjustment. That moment cannot, we take it, come too soon. The importance of maintaining the dividend-paying reputation of the great trunk lines engaged in the fight, greatly exceeds any temporary advantage which would accrue to the West by the maintenance of the now ruinous and financially disgraceful squabble. As preliminary to the final adjustment, we propose that Mr. Moran, of the New York and Erie, who long ago demonstrated his glaring incapacity, be turned out to make room for a business man!

AUSTRIAN RULE IN LOMBARDY. —THE FORCED LOAN.

Dr. Franklin's anecdote, told at the commencement of the Revolutionary war, in illustration of the proposition of England to tax the colonies for the expenses growing out of the attempt to execute upon them oppressive and unconstitutional enactments—the anecdote of the Frenchman who rushed into the street brandishing a hot poker, and demanded the cost of heating it from the pacific gentleman who refused to have it inserted between his ribs—might be repeated to illustrate the treatment of Lombardy by Austria. There is this difference, however, in the two cases. Austria has for years had the hot iron seething in the vitals of that doomed province; and she now demands a forced loan of seventy-five millions of florins, as a guaranty that she will never take the poker out. The loan is to be divided among the principal cities, and the penalties which are threatened in the event of non-compliance with the imperial exactions, are so horrible, that the money will doubtless be forthcoming, unless by some providential interference, the French and Sardinians should come to their relief before the iniquity is complete.

The London Daily News, in discussing the matter, gives the following almost incredible account of the oppression to which the Lombards are subjected:

> The condition of the people on whom it is laid, as well as the object of this forced loan, make it a measure of peculiar and even refined cruelty. During the last ten years the inhabitants of Lombardy have been subjected to a series of fines, taxes, and forced loans of the most oppressive and iniquitous kind. In this respect they have in fact, been treated as slaves, having no right, whatever, to the produce of the soil that they tilled, but only at most to a bare subsistence, just enough to perpetuate the round of hopeless labor to which they were condemned. The land tax, for example, in this province, being more than double the amount levied in other parts of the empire, absorbs all the profits arising from the cultivation of the soil. In one year alone, in addition to the existing land tax of 50 per cent, an extraordinary tax of $70,000,000 and a forced loan of 120,000,000 of Austrian livres were laid on the people of Lombardy. What has been the natural result—a result not only known, but notorious now throughout Europe? The land is gradually growing out of cultivation. Multitudes, both in town and country, have not only been impoverished, but absolutely ruined, as the annual number of forced or "distress" sales absolutely proves. Many citizens, once well to do, have died a miserable and lingering death, while many others lengthen out a wretched existence by the sale of family jewels and heir-looms dearer than life itself. The real character of Austrian oppression in Lombardy may be gathered from the significant fact that the taxes, rarely less than forty per cent, sometimes rises to the enormous sum of seventy-five per cent. Yet this is the Province on which the Austrian government, in its paternal mildness, proposes to lay the heavy burden of the present war. This is a piece of wanton tyranny which will tax the friends of Austrian rule in this country to soften and extenuate so as not to revolt their readers, and shock the national sense of justice among the English people.

Is it any wonder that we should be told among the items of news brought by the City of Washington, that "revolutionary movements in Lombardy are reported?"

FIRE.—On Tuesday last, the house of Mr. Samuel Musselman in Mt. Carroll Township, Ill., was burned to the ground. Loss, $1,400.

BOMBA AND THE KINGDOM OF NAPLES.

Ferdinand II, alias Bomba, King of Naples, has died a natural death instead of being strangled with a stout rope as the majority of his subjects together with the greater portion of Christendom devoutly hoped might be the fashion of his taking off. The Pope of Rome interposed his most fervent wrestlings with the saints to keep the breath in the body of the Neapolitan tyrant, and it is even stated that the Virgin Mary gave His Holiness private assurances that Bomba should yet live and flourish mightily among his gibbets, racks, thumb-screws and submarine dungeons—but all to no purpose. He has gone to his bloody account, leaving to the remotest posterity of mankind a name to be execrated and an example to be shunned. Since the days of James II. of England the world has contained not another such embodiment of blood-thirstiness, despotism, bigotry, treachery and cowardice as the defunct Bourbon—to which catalogue Bomba added the further distinction of buffoonery, combining in his own person the offices of king, inquisitor and court fool of Naples. The two ideas of his life were that the sovereign is the natural and sworn enemy of his subjects, and that the Pope is infallible. He had also an uncommonly well defined instinct, to wit, fear, and acting upon this it was his practice to run bellowing from his dominions upon every decided symptom of discontent among his people, and return only when Austrian bayonets had thoroughly smothered the spirit of revolution. It was to no purpose that his brother princes reproached him with cowardice. He admitted with tears and oaths that the Almighty had made him a craven.

Ferdinand II. was born at Naples in the year 1809. His father was Francis I., who sat on the Neapolitan throne from 1825 to 1830; his grandfather was Ferdinand I., who ruled from 1759 to 1825, except during the interval of his expulsion by Napoleon Bonaparte, when the throne was occupied by Joseph Bonaparte and Joachim Murat; his great-grandfather was Don Carlos, who ruled from 1736 to 1759, when he ascended the throne of Spain. His connection with the house of Bourbon comes through Philip V. of Spain, grandfather of Don Carlos, and grandson of Louis XIV. The subject of the present narrative ascended the throne of Naples, Nov. 8th, 1830. His father, Francis, had ruled not unkindly for five years in the capacity of king, and for a short time as prince-vicar on the forced abdication of Ferdinand I. The abdication of Ferdinand had been caused by an insurrection in his army, incited and directed by the society of Carbonari—"Charcoal-workers"—a name which has since become terrible to Italian potentates. The mountains of Naples were the birthplace of the Carbonari, and their first exploit was the revolt of 1820, which for a moment overturned the Neapolitan tyranny. History has hardly a more brutal example than the crushing of the constitutional government erected in Naples by this movement. The king and prince-vicar had both granted a constitution to the people modeled on the plan of the Spanish Cortes—the most democratic of European monarchies. The King had taken the oath to support it, and the first election had been regularly held under it. The Parliament was opened on the 1st of October, 1820, by the King in person. In the same month, however, the Holy Alliance represented by the sovereigns of Russia, Austria and Prussia, met at the Troppau, and resolved to put down the new Neapolitan government. France approved of the scheme, and Lord Castlereagh, on behalf of Great Britain, admitted that it might be expedient. The three sovereigns invited Ferdinand to join them at an adjourned meeting at Laybach. The latter applied to his parliament for permission to do so, guarantying to procure for them in any event a national representation, personal liberty, freedom of the press, independence of the judges, and responsibility of the ministers to the people. Arrived at Laybach, he revoked his oath, and fell in with the conspiracy of the Alliance to overthrow the constitution and take vengeance on the liberals. An Austrian army of 43,000 men was at once put in motion for Naples. The feeble opposition of the Neapolitan army, under Gen. Pepe, was quickly scattered, and the constitution was at an end. The return of Ferdinand had been preceded by a proclamation promising a general amnesty to political offenders. This was violated in the most barbarous manner; a hundred executions took place, and a vast number were sent to the galleys, banished to the convict islands, or imprisoned in the royal dungeons.

No revolt occurred during the reign of Francis I, from 1825 to 1830. The rule of his son Ferdinand, however, has been as uneasy as the bowels of Vesuvius. Five inconsiderable revolts occurred in as many years after his accession but were suppressed without difficulty. Austria having since the meeting of Laybach taken upon herself the police power of Italy, Bomba has had army of the hated "Tedeschi," (as the Italians call the Germans), whenever the exigencies of revolution called for them. In the convulsion of 1848, however, Austria had too much business of her own, in Hungary and elsewhere, to attend to the wants of Italy, and Naples again revolutionized and established a provisional government. Bomba shivering with terror, promised everything, even to sending his army to Lombardy to aid the Milanese in overthrowing the Austrian rule. The new parliament, relying on the honor of their sovereign, allowed him to retain his title and the royal domain. They were proceeding to draw up a plan for a constitutional monarchy, when suddenly the army re-appeared in accordance with secret instructions from the King, seized the representatives of the people in their chamber, and hurried them to the royal dungeons where such of them as were not executed, or poisoned by the noisome atmosphere, remained till the beginning of the present year. The atrocities which followed this brutal coup rival the bloodiest chapters in Italian history. The only science Bomba was a proficient in was torture. He knew the degrees of suffering which human nature could endure without death to a nicety. While his own subjects came in for the larger share of his genius in this line, he was wholly unscrupulous in his treatment of foreigners whenever he supposed he might maltreat them with impunity. The recent affair of the Cagliari, a Sardinian steamer, seized by the Neapolitan authorities on suspicion of a revolutionary enterprise, is familiar to all. Among others hurried from the deck of the steamer to the submarine prisons of Naples were two English engineers. Bomba, sheltered behind Austria, treated the British government with huge contempt, until it became manifest that a fleet of gun boats would settle the difficulty in front of his own palace, when he came suddenly to his marrow-bones, released the engineers, and compensated their sufferings with a liberal payment of ducats. Since the termination of the Crimean war, the English and French governments have with difficulty restrained themselves from taking hold of the blackguard and chastising his insolence. It is greatly to be regretted that they did not.

Bomba is succeeded by his son Francis II, who will doubtless be succeeded by a flourishing revolution before the breath has been a month out of his father's body. It is to be hoped that the next revolutionists will avoid the fatal mistake of their predecessors, and make no terms with the royal family. The breed should be exterminated at once.

The German Republicans of Indiana.

The German Republicans of Indiana seem to have but a very slight disposition to extend the right hand of fellowship to members of the American party. They held a meeting at Indianapolis the other day, and

Resolved, "That we oppose to the principle contained in the Cincinnati Platform—no interference with Slavery—our principle—no interference with Liberty, by the President, by Congress, by the Federal Court."

That covers the ground of the "irrepressible conflict."

DROWNED.—A letter has just been received at Fairfield, Iowa, announcing that Dr. Wm. R. Paxon, an esteemed citizen of that place, and a man named West, were drowned on the 5th of May, while attempting to cross the north fork of Blue River on a raft. Dr. Paxon left with a company several weeks previous for Pike's Peak.

The Cincinnati Excursion.

Editors Press and Tribune:

A correspondent writes you a rose colored account of the great excursion to Cincinnati. If he was in earnest, he saw things through a prism. Permit me to narrate events as they struck me. The 550 invited guests who went from Chicago to Cincinnati, were highly respectable citizens. They formed as fine a delegation as this or any city could turn out on a like occasion. They were equal in character, position in society, and in all other respects, to the people whom they went to visit. The public prints in Cincinnati acknowledged this, spoke of them as "distinguished visitors," "fine-looking delegation of gentlemen," "twelve car-loads of the best citizens of the Prairie City," and similar encomiums. A "programme of the day" was published, and a flourish was made in the papers of the preparations making to receive the "welcome and distinguished guests."

The train arrived at an early hour in the morning; the railroad company furnished the visitors an omnibus ride to the hotels; a portion managed to get rooms at the Burnet; the Spencer taking some, as did other houses making pretensions to being "first class," and the residue of the "distinguished strangers" were obliged to seek quarters in the second and third-class houses,—though in the scale of charges they were all "first-class," A. No. 1.

At the Burnet, and some of the other houses, many of the excursionists met at the hands of the clerks churlish treatment, which the young gents, perhaps, intended for lofty dignity of demeanor. Some of the guests who had their wives with them, telegraphed ahead to secure rooms, but found, when they arrived there, that no attention had been paid to their dispatches. The fare served at the hotels was common to middling, if judged by the standard of the Tremont, Briggs or the Richmond. Strawberries were selling in the market at five cents for inferior to fifteen for choice. The five-centers only were served at table. Cherries were in market, but the price was above the views of the "first class" hotel keepers. The "distinguished visitors" however, gratified their palates at the market stalls and from the fruit stands on the corners. I observed that the "principal hotels" in Cincinnati, are kept by the clerks—at least the landlords were not visible.

It was arranged in the programme that a Committee of the Chamber of Commerce should wait on the excursionists at 10 A. M. and escort them to the Merchants' Exchange, where they were to be "cordially received, introduced to the members," and made to feel at home, and all that sort of thing. Ten o'clock came but no committee was to be seen. Eleven passed but no Committee. Finally the Mayor happened into the Burnet, and learning the state of the case took the responsibility to invite the Chicago "guests" over to the "Exchange." The President of the Chamber of Commerce after this arrival "welcomed them to the city," "hailed with pleasure the opening of a new avenue of trade," and "offered the hospitalities of the city to the guests." Mayor Bishop followed, bidding them a "hearty welcome." "We are glad," said he, "to see you in our midst. We trust you will enjoy yourselves to the utmost of your anticipations so long as you may stay among us. We shall use our utmost endeavors to make your visit agreeable."

Mayor Haines and Dr. Egan responded, and that was the last seen of the members of the Chamber of Commerce and their "hospitalities."

It was announced that the doors of the National Theatre would be thrown open that night for the free entertainment of the guests, and that the Horticultural Society had opened the door of their Fair to the excursionists. But no tickets were presented, and none of the guests were admitted except such as claimed at the door to be "Chicago excursionists," and were willing to stand a cross-examination to substantiate the truth of that assertion. Many of the "guests" declined to enter on such terms, and others bought their way in.

The celebrated visit to Longworth's wine-cellar has been sufficiently described already, but I protest against making a scapegoat of "Old Nick." His behavior in score of hospitality and courtesy was a fair average of the "welcome" tendered to the "distinguished" strangers who were taken in.

The princely hospitality of Mr. Bowler, who resides, by the way, out in the rural districts, six or seven miles north of the city, must not be mixed up with the freedom of the city.

The Fort Wayne and Dayton Railways performed all that was promised and more than was expected. Their part of the proffered hospitalities was fulfilled to overflowing. The employees, from Superintendents to Brakemen did all in their power to render the excursion delightful. The intermission of these attentions only ceased when the excursionists became the "guests of the citizens," and were resumed when they ceased to enjoy the "freedom of the city"—the tangible evidence of which enjoyment consisted of the free use of the side walks, double priced hack and livery hire on the streets, first class hotel bills for second class accommodations; dry Catawba in wonderful caves; profuse personal attention by public and private citizens—(over the left); dinners, wines, strawberries, rides, walks and visits to all the nice places—(only there wasn't); ladies calling on the Chicago ladies, and gentlemen on the "distinguished visitors"—(only they did'nt). The six hundred Chicago excursionists made "presents" to their Cincinnati friends to the amount of twelve to fifteen thousand dollars in coin and currency in exchange for the exalted courtesies enjoyed, and the "freedom of the city" which was tendered; or, in other words, each excursionist took care of himself, showed himself around, treated himself to the good things of sight and sense, without disturbing the porcine avocations of the citizens.

Crop Items—Frost in June.

[From our Country Correspondence.]

WEST URBANA, CHAMPAIGNE CO., June 4, 1859.

We had a heavy frost last night, ice an eighth of an inch thick. The up train reports frost on the platform at Mattoon, and it probably extended still further South. The Winter Wheat now in bloom must be more or less injured. It will require one or two days to get at the amount of the damage to the corn and garden crops.

RURAL.

GENESEO, HENRY CO., ILL., June 4, 1859.

Editors Press and Tribune:

We had here, this morning, what I never saw before, a severe white frost in June. At 4 o'clock this morning the mercury stood at the freezing point, and remained there until sunrise—an event, it appears to me, worth putting on record. I at once commenced the application of cold water to everything in our garden of a tender nature, and hope to save them, but where this has not been done all must be cut off. The effect of frost on wheat, oats, &c., will not be injurious, but corn will be somewhat retarded in its growth. In regard to wheat, I adhere to what I said last week, where one piece looks well, at least one looks badly; and since I wrote you, the old pest, the Hessian fly, has made its appearance in this quarter, as I am informed for the first time; and its ravages are already so great, that I hear several pieces of wheat are being plowed up. Of course it attacks only Winter wheat.

County Seat of Douglas County.

DOUGLAS COUNTY, ILL., June 4, 1859.

Editors Press and Tribune:

In your paper of June 30, I noticed a statement of the vote of Douglas County for County Seat, which was wholly incorrect, as they were not half done voting at the time the letter was written. I have just received the official vote from the Board of Canvassers, which is as follows:

Precincts.	Tuscola.	Arcola.
Bourbon	154	38
Garrett	105
Deer Creek		184
Sargeant		97
Brushy	90	3
Camargo	532	8
Arcola	5	1,264
Tuscola	3,855
Total	4,741	1,594

Thus, you see, Tuscola's majority is 3,155. The enormous town of Tuscola had a vote of 3,855! being nearly thirty times larger than the legal vote, which is only 120. But Douglas ought not to complain of his county for voting a Democratic vote. John Candlebox Calhoun is nowhere in comparison to the Tuscolaites. And may they prosper with their County Seat, which they have obtained by such legal voting.

Republicanism in Virginia.

The Washington correspondent of the N. Y. Evening Post says:

> "It may seem somewhat singular with you, but I believe the Republicans in Virginia hold the balance of power between the two great parties to-day. This is the opinion of a shrewd Virginian politician. There are thousands of Northern freemen already in Virginia. In a town not a dozen miles from Washington there are over fifty voters who come from the North, and are Republicans in sentiment. They proposed a month ago voting for Goggin, but his abuse of the Republicans lately disgusted them, and they agreed in a body to stay from the polls. By another gubernatorial election in Virginia the Republicans in the State will make themselves tell as a power."

In the city of Wheeling alone there were four hundred Republicans who staid away from the polls; and in Western Virginia enough to have given Goggin the majority for which he fought so hard; but their self-respect and sense of decency forbade their voting at all. Had he been less extreme on the slavery question, he would be Governor elect, to day.

THE STATE OF EUROPE.

By the America's Mails.

[Correspondence of the New York Tribune.]

LONDON, May 20, 1859.

Europe is still in the state of anxious expectation, the belligerent parties remaining still in their original positions—the Austrians between the Sesia, the Scrivia and the frontier of Lombardy, the French and Sardinians on the Dora Baltea and the line of Casale, Allessandria and Genoa. Napoleon, cautious and cool, is waiting for the last re-enforcements, especially his artillery which the melting snow of the Mont Cenis prevented from being brought by land. He clings to his original idea of beginning the operations in June, but King Victor Emanuel can scarcely master his desire of boldly advancing against the Austrians, in order to dislodge them from his richest province, the Lomellina, now systematically plundered by Count Gyulai and the Austrians. The complaints of the inhabitants of Vercelli, Mortara, Novara, etc. rend the heart of the benevolent king, who has not yet accustomed himself to the worst features of a war, which entails not only losses in battle, but still greater misery on the inoffensive population. Count Gyulai, however, does his work in such an effective way, that he had to report to Vienna that within a fortnight the Lomellina will have no further resources for feeding his army, and he will have to recross the frontier. By that time, however, Gen. Hess and the Emperor are expected to be in Italy and to take the command.

England's attitude is not yet clearly defined. The tory cabinet relies exclusively on the favor of the Court, and has, therefore, Austrian leanings. This sympathy is fully understood by Cardinal Wiseman, who knows likewise that Austria means the Pope and the Concordat. He accordingly supported the tory candidates with all his might in England, as well as in Ireland, and the Orangemen of our days did not repudiate the helping hand of the Roman Catholics, if their party could only get a majority. But the tories did not get a majority, and their only hope now, lies in the split between Lord John Russell, Lord Palmerston and John Bright. In the meantime, the nation has expressed her desire for non-intervention and strict neutrality, in town meetings all over the country, and the Ministry had to yield, and to publish a royal proclamation to this effect. However, Lord Malmesbury still tries to persuade the Emperor of France that the sea coast from Trieste to Cattaro, even in that portion which is not included in the German Confederation, should be declared neutral, under the pretext that the Christian populations of Turkey would rise against the Sultan, should the approach of the war to their shores rouse their warlike propensities. But Napoleon has as yet no intention of setting free the Austrian army of 40,000 men now scattered along the Dalmatian coast, and to enable it to become the reserve of the great Italian army, he therefore declines any such stipulations and finds that even his promise of respecting the territory of the German Confederation gives the Austrians an undue advantage.

The English middle and working classes regard the Austrian leanings of their aristocracy with great distrust, and a series of meetings against this tendency has been lately arranged to begin to-day at the London Tavern—the Lord Mayor to be in the chair, and Kossuth to speak. Manchester, Bradford and Glasgow are to follow with monster demonstrations, in order thus to tie the hands of the Cabinet during the Parliamentary recess, and to prevent Lord Malmesbury from entering into entangling alliances.

The position of Prussia is still more critical. The educated classes of Germany are seized by a Teutonic furore against Napoleon, the conservatives reproaching him with an alliance with the revolution abroad, and the liberals with his despotism at home. They swallow even the Concordat, and wish to do battle for Austria, that incubus on German liberty, in the good natured belief that as soon as Francis Joseph is saved by German aid, and Italy crushed—as soon as he becomes strong and powerful again, he will become a German Democrat, and dance to the tune of German unity and German liberty. The Prince of Prussia on the other hand feels that if Austria should lose her Non Germanic provinces, nothing could prevent the reconstruction of a powerful German Empire under the auspices of Prussia. He therefore temporizes, prevents the concentration of an army of observation on the Rhine, and declares semi-officially in the Cologne Gazette that Prussia has no interest in supporting Austria in Italy in a war precipitated by the Court of Vienna against the advice of Prussia, and in defense of a policy never approved by Germany. The temper of the English people, which wishes for nothing more eagerly than for neutrality, and the suspicious armaments of Russia, which is concentrating large forces on the Prusso-Austrian frontiers, strengthen the position of the Prince Regent. Still it is not certain whether he will be able to resist the anti-French agitation among the Germans.

As to Russia, Austria tries to conciliate her by sacrificing Count Buol, who was peculiarly obnoxious to the Court of St. Petersburgh and would gladly agree to any Turkish scheme if Czar Alexander would only become more friendly toward Francis Joseph. But the Czar has not yet forgotten the ingratitude of Austria, and is well aware of the hatred which the Russian army feels toward Francis Joseph. He, therefore, remains true to his understanding with Napoleon and declares that he will remain neutral as long as the war is carried on between Austria on one side, and Sardinia and France on the other. Should, however, the war extend by the participation of Germany, he would feel bound to consult his European interests, and to preserve the balance of power. England, in the interest of the same balance of power, favors Austria, while Russia favors France, and Prussia remains expectant, with the view of an eventual aggrandizement of the house of Hohenzollern.

The King of Naples, who is dying by inches, declares likewise strict neutrality, but his declaration has not been noticed by Napoleon, who is not willing to throw away a card which might turn out a trump. The King of Greece, on the other side, who thought he might, in the general confusion of Europe, pocket Thessaly, has been warned both by the French and Russians not to stir, and quietly await the development of the crisis. Again, Prince Conza, of Moldo Wallachia, is not only allowed to concentrate 20,000 men at plojeshte, but he is supplied with arms and ammunition from Russia as well as from France. Prince Milosh, of Servia, is likewise organizing the forces of the Principality, while Danilo, of Montenegro, gives shelter to the Roman outlaws, and encourages them in their continual attempts to harass the Turks with the view of expelling them from the Illyrian triangle. The Turks are concentrating their forces on the balken and Dinaric Alps, and are astonished at the indifference with which Europe looks upon their present danger. "How is," said a Pasha lately, "that the Emperor of France and the Queen of England, having spent millions of money, and more than a hundred thousand men to preserve us from the grip of a lion, allows us now to be devoured by our own dogs."

The financial straits of Austria are terrible. Within three weeks we see an emission of one hundred and and twenty millions of paper money, without any metalic basis; a forced loan of seventy-five millions in Lombardo-Austria, and a general raising of all the direct and indirect taxes. And all this before the first battle, at the very outset of the war. What will Francis Joseph do if it should last for a couple of years? The commercial distress in consequence of the depreciation of the Bank Notes, which has already reached fifty per cent, is immense, and many failures have followed that of the great banking-house of Trastain & Eskeles, and the provinces complain that they are unable to pay the taxes.

France, Russia and the United States.

[From the Toronto Leader.]

A telegram from Washington states that the legations of France and Russia, at that capital, are on the best of terms, and it seems to be thought that this unity of sentiment indicates an accord between the governments which they represent. Taken alone, an incident of this kind would be of little value; but when viewed as a corroboration of other circumstances which are alleged to exist, even a diplomatic straw of this kind, may serve in some way as a political weather-vane. We hear nothing about the United States, or the position it may possibly assume in some of the varying contingencies of an European war. There are no doubt good reasons for the general indifference on this point. The United States have no pretensions to exert even the smallest modicum of influence in Europe. It is a part of her traditional policy to keep clear of all "entangling alliances; a resolution which, so far as regards her relation to Europe, well accords with her position. At the same time, it is very certain that the United States have a policy with reference to this Continent; a policy of political and territorial aggrandisement. She looks forward to the day when, as she fondly imagines, the whole of North America, at the very least, will be hers. To realize this dream she waits upon opportunity; and who can say what an European war may bring forth? The United States have generally been on friendly terms with France; and during the Crimean war her Russia-phobia was exceedingly conspicuous. Nothing has since occurred to create any coolness between the two nations. The United States have, it is true, no particular reason for any peculiar fondness for France; for on several recent occasions that country has shown a disposition to check any tendency which the Model Republic might show to break the law of nations for selfish purposes. The tripartite treaty proposed by England and France to the United States, by which all these countries were to have bound themselves never to acquire possession of Cuba, was not a thing that could be mistaken. France, equally with England, has continued to show a distinclination to permit the United States to obtain the Queen of the Antilles, on any terms whatever. She has besides recently been a check upon fillibustering in Central America. For all this, the United States cannot bring themselves to feel grateful to France. But circumstances may and often do give a new direction to national feeling, and a new move on the political chess-board of the world generally causes a change in the interests and policy of the countries more immediately effected.

At present, there is not the least prospect that the present war will present to the United States any prospect of political ambition. What neither the Crimean war nor the Indian mutiny gave her is not likely to be extracted out of a war commenced between France and Sardinia on the one hand, and Austria on the other, and out of which England is pretty certain to keep for a considerable time, if not altogether. A semi-official Paris paper, Le Constitutionnel, recently hinted that Russia was anxious to secure a footing in India, as well as to extend her possessions in America. No doubt; and it is equally clear that Russian aggression in America could only be at the expense of England. How far the United States might, in the at present improbable event of Russia entering seriously upon such an enterprise, feel disposed to act, is somewhat doubtful. It is improbable that she would attempt to interfere directly between two Powers in whose quarrel she had no part; but she might seize the opportunity to get up a quarrel of her own. If Russia and England were drawn into the present war—and if one were to take part in it, it is difficult to see how the other could longer remain neutral—it would be quite natural that Russia should attempt to extend the limits of her American possessions.

In a general European war, France might seek to recover her ancient possession of Newfoundland as well as some portions of the mainland; and in that case the United States might strike at the heart of British America, while Russia and France attacked the extremities. It is impossible that any formal understanding of this kind exists; but it can hardly be otherwise than that vague notions of this kind should have flitted across the minds of the more unscrupulous class of American statesmen. This class are constantly watching for opportunities. Of this there need be no doubt; and although the American Government may enter into no formal agreement with any other country, as to the respective parts they should play, in a certain contingency, there is no doubt that a good feeling exists between the United States, France and Russia.

They may all have a vague idea of what shape that feeling might take, in certain eventualities; and it is probable that this sort of political Free Masonry does exist between them. But that it will come to anything practical, during the present war is very doubtful. There is no reason, so far as this part of the American continent is concerned, to fear the consequences of the good understanding which undoubtedly exists between the three powers in question. What the future may bring forth; what shape this war may take before it is over, is more than the wisest man living can foresee or predict with any approach to certainty.

Lake Superior Intelligence.

[From the Ontonagon Advocate, May 26.]

FLOOD IN THE RIVER AND LOSS OF THE MINER.—Monday, until 3 o'clock in the afternoon, was as pleasant a day as ever shone. The Miner, as usual, proceeded up the river, with an unusual number of happy passengers, being in fact, the balance of those left by the Collins—all of whom we understand, reached Rockland in safety. As the Miner was returning to Ontonagon she unfortunately struck a snag in the river, somewhere near William's location, and in two minutes sank and swung round broadside to the stream. Had the weather continued fair, she would unquestionably have been got off without much damage next morning, but, towards 5 o'clock on Monday afternoon, it commenced raining heavily, and throughout the whole night the water fell in torrents. The river rose to an unprecedented height at this season, and carried away the boom at Captain Harris' saw mill, sending some 1,500 to 1,800 logs down the stream with tremendous velocity. The logs carried off all the upper works of the Miner, which floated down to the Lake, but it was confidently expected that the hull and machinery would be safe and got out when the water fell. We understand, however, that she has broken the hawser by which she was fastened, and disappeared entirely. She may be lying in the first deep pool below where the accident occurred, but whether she can be repaired and made serviceable for the season, is extremely doubtful. Capt. Harris' loss cannot be much under $4,000, and the want of the lumber will be severely felt around the mines, as many persons were contemplating building there this season.

[From the Marquette Journal, June 1.]

RAILROAD ACCIDENT.—A serious accident occurred on the Bay de Noquet and Marquette railroad, on Saturday morning last, as the locomotive D. Donkersley, with a train of eighteen or twenty empty ore cars, was going up. It was caused by the settling of the track (injured by the heavy rain of the day previous) at the foot of a down grade about four miles from this place. No one was killed, but it is feared the fireman was fatally injured. One limb and hand were so badly crushed that they have since been taken off. The conductor, Mr McGregor, Mr. Bridges, the track-master, and two brakemen were somewhat bruised but not seriously. The locomotive was considerably damaged, as it sunk low enough to allow the rails on the track forward to pass through the cylinder heads.—The accident detained the trains only two or three days.

THE STORM.—We were visited, Thursday night and Friday, with one of the worst storms of north-west wind and rain ever experienced here. The schooner Susquehanna, in coming in, was driven upon the beach three or four miles below the Chocolate, where she now lies high and dry, but it is thought she can be got off without difficulty. No lives lost. The schooner Parsons, which left here about six o'clock Thursday afternoon, loaded with ore, collided during the night with some vessel, name unknown, lost her bowsprit and was otherwise injured. She returned and came to anchor a mile or so out, but continued to drift till near the mouth of the Chocolate, where she lay in great peril until evening, when the Mineral Rock, which arrived here the day before, was able to go to her assistance. None of the numerous vessels lying at our docks were injured.

The Cincinnati Excursion.

The Cincinnati Commercial of Saturday says:

There is among citizens of this city a prejudice, having a foundation in some facts of our municipal and social history, against "Excursionists." There are a great many intelligent persons among us, who regard an excursion some how associated with the opening of a new railroad, as synonymous with a violent irruption of Loaferdom. Now we desire to state for the benefit of those who entertain such prejudices, that the company we now have among us from Chicago and Milwaukee is composed of some of the best people of those cities. The gentlemen and ladies of high standing in those places are largely represented in the delegation. It affords us much satisfaction to make this statement. The fact, we hope, will induce some of the solid men and true ladies of Cincinnati to be interested in having themselves fairly represented on the return excursion. We have never had reason to be particularly proud of our delegations upon railroad excursions; and if such a thing can be, we desire to see a party made up that will not disgrace us. It might be well to have a few comfortable drinkers along, but there are other qualifications beside those of the stomach, worthy, under such circumstances, of a moderate amount of attention.

The Three Sovereigns.

Louis Napoleon, is cold, stern, forbidding in feature, and has legs too short for his body; he appears to most advantage when seated, or on horseback, because the exact ratio of his legs to his body is then less evident. Victor Emanuel has a broad, dumpy face, and positively vulgar mien; he is the most unkingly looking personage of the three. Francis Joseph has the advantage of his rivals as far as figure is concerned; but the sullen and selfish cast of his features makes him as unprepossessing as the others. His Sardinian majesty is said, moreover, to have a grossierete of manner which has more than once operated to his prejudice. He is reported to have given serious offence to his august ally at the Tuileries, by his indecorous conduct at table with the Princess Mathilde, and even with the Empress. Malicious people say that in consequence of these escapades he received a hint to shorten his visit.

MISCELLANEOUS ITEMS.

ST. DOMINGO.—The government of St. Domingo has ceded to a French and English company, for forty years, the right to work the coal mines of the country; for twenty years, the guano deposits, and for forty years, the silver, gold, and copper mines. The conditions are numerous, but the principal ones are that the company shall employ sufficient capital to prosecute the work favorably, pay ten per cent. on the rough products of the mines and on each quintal of guano, open a road from Santiago to Puerto Plata, and advance on account a million of francs to the government, payable in Paris in four months from the date of these concessions.

AVOIDING CAPE HATTERAS.—The opening of the Albermarle and Chespeake canal completes a chain of inland navigation from New York southward a distance of over 600 miles. Recently the steamer Victor, Capt. Morse, bound from Bath, Maine, to St. Mary's, Georgia, was enabled, by means of this canal, to pass from Norfolk, through the inland waters of North Carolina, to a point beyond Hatteras. She was too large for the locks of the New Jersey and Delaware canals, but found no difficulty in passing through the new canal. Vessels not drawing more than five feet can now pass through the canal. When completed it is to be eight feet deep and seventy wide.

THE ROMANTIC DE RIVIERE.—We learn that this individual who figured in the Blount affair in Savannah, Mobile and elsewhere, is now luxuriating at the hotel of our friend Schwartz, in the pleasant village of Aiken, S. C. His grief for the loss of the Countess seems to have partially subsided, and he is now soothing his lacerated affections with the companionship of two endearing names of "Cousin Henry" and "dear Harry." One of these ladies is the wife of a Boston broker, and the other is reported to be single. They were at the Planter's Hotel in this city in April, in charge of a reputable party from Boston, and now appear to have plenty of cash to defray their own expenses and that of their gallant Zouave. They spend their time during the day in riding, he accompanying them on horseback. Altogether they form an interesting trio. We forbear to say more of their exploits, which are exciting some gossip in Aiken.—Augusta Despatch.

PHILADELPHIA LIQUOR STATISTICS.—We find in the Philadelphia Ledger a statement, by which it appears that there are in that city 3,481 places where liquor is sold, while the number of licenses amount to only 1,796. On Bedford, Spofford and Baker streets, and such like localities, nearly every habitation has its supply of liquor, which is given in exchange for stolen goods, offal, etc. In a distance of four short squares, there are fifty-three drinking places, and on one side of South street, some short distance thirty-five. In another locality, comprising a space of four squares by half a square, there are forty-seven. In two and a half blocks, bounded by Twenty-third, Vine and Hamilton streets, and the Schuylkill, there are thirty.

AN UNEXPECTED APPLICATION OF THE SUNDAY LAW.—On Sunday, October 4, 1857, Charles D. Bibelga, a cigar pedlar, was killed by the falling of an embankment on the Eighth avenue, near Seventy-seventh street, New York. His administrator brought a suit against the city for the statute penalty, but on trial it appeared that the deceased was on a peddling tour when he was killed, and the court, holding that he was not engaged in any work of "charity or mercy," dismissed the action after due consideration.

SINGING FESTIVAL.—A German national singing festival is to be held at Baltimore this month. From 1,500 to 2,000 singers are expected to be present.

THE RAILROAD WAR.—The opinion amongst railroad men in New York is, that the competing roads will lose $125,000 a month during the continuance of the railroad war; the aggregate loss of the four will be $500,000 per month, being at the rate of $6,000,000 per annum.

THE FRENCH NAVY.—According to the last report of the Minister of Marine, it is designed to raise the French steam navy to one hundred and fifty vessels of war, of various classes, built after the best models, with engines of full power, in addition to seventy-two steam transports; and it is proposed to devote to this end a sum equivalent to $15,000,000 annually for the next twelve years.

U. S. HOMOEOPATHIC CONVENTION.—The U. S. Homoeopathic Convention met at Mercantile Hall, Boston, on Wednesday. There was a full attendance. Dr. P. P. Wells, of Brooklyn, N. Y., was elected President; Dr. H. D. Paine, of Albany, Secretary; and C. H. Skiff, of New Haven, Treasurer. A lecture was delivered in the evening by Dr. S. S. Guy, of Brooklyn, New York.

WESTERN NEWS ITEMS.

WRONG.—A woman of disreputable character was tarred and feathered a few days since at Keokuk, Iowa. Perhaps the Keokukians wish a repetition of the Oshkosh fire.

KILLED BY LIGHTNING.—On Thursday last, Mr. Willis Dundy of Nauvoo, Ill., was killed by lightning while in bed with his brother. The latter was badly bruised and scorched but not fatally.

—A man named McDermont was instantly killed by lightning in Hampshire Township, Iowa, while sitting under a large oak tree.

DOGS.—The Marshal of La Salle killed 150 dogs in that place during last week.

ESCAPE OF PRISONERS.—Five prisoners confined in the Ottawa jail made their escape on Friday evening last by digging through the wall. They ran in different directions, causing considerable excitement among the citizens. All but one of them have been retaken.

ACCIDENT.—A party of eight persons who left Fort Dodge, Iowa, for Des Moines, in a skiff, were suddenly capsized when about thirty miles above Des Moines. Among the party were the Rev. Mr. Fairchild and lady, and a Miss Sherman. They were all finally saved from a watery grave but not until some of them had become much exhausted.

A COW STORY.—A party of eight persons, says the Alton Courier, left Middletown, Ill., last spring for the mines, taking with them a cow. Two weeks since a letter from the party, dated "Kansas, Two Hundred Miles from Home," was received by a gentleman in Middletown, and in which it was stated that "Old Brindle" had caused them a great deal of trouble. A few days after the receipt of the letter, he was somewhat astonished to find "Old Brindle" standing at his gate, she having found her way back alone a distance of two hundred miles. Some cow, that.

THE GINSENG TRADE.—The digging of Ginseng in Minnesota, is giving employment to a number of the people of that State. Large quantities of the article are yearly exported to China, where it is used for medicinal purposes. Last summer a gentleman in Fairbault purchased to the amount of $20,000; and this year, Col. Pratt of St. Peters advertises for $60,000 worth of the article. Every pound of ginseng is eagerly bought up by purchasers who pay cash for it. Six tons were brought into Fairbault last week. The prices range from six to eight cents per pound for green, and from twenty-five to thirty cents for dry ginseng. A Minnesota paper says;

The cry is Ginseng! The mother rocks her baby to sleep with a Ginseng lullaby; the little boys and girls imagine every brake root, dandelion or blood root to be Ginseng! Ginseng, in conversation, commences every sentence, and rounds every period. Vive Ginseng!

One of the Incidents of Slavery.

A correspondent of the Boston Jouarl writes to that paper from Richmond, on account of his visit to a slave pen,—one of those southern institutions which the Northern Amalgamation Democracy so much admire, and are doing so much to sustain,—and what he saw. Amongst other sights he says he saw in one of the rooms a nice, well furnished bed, which was occupied by one of the handsomest women he ever beheld. She was a light mulatto, of small and graceful figure, fine features, straight black hair bright, intelligent, and apparently cheerful. With her was a bright little boy, whiter than herself, eighteen months old, the son of her master. She and her boy were pledged as "collateral" for the payment of certain money advanced to her master, which his necessities demanded and which he could raise in no other way. It was said to be his earnest desire to redeem her, and he hoped to be able to do so. But the sad uncertainty cast a sadness over her, face which the jokes of the dealers—in which joined with forced cheerfulness—could not entirely dissipate. She was willing and desirous of going north, she said, though if she could go back to her master, and be sure of staying with him so long as he lived, she would like to do so. There is attached to he houses a yard, in which the slaves stay most of the time during the day.

FINE ART EXHIBITION.
FREE TO ALL.
The Village Blacksmith!!
This celebrated Painting, by Herring, the great Animal Painter, of England, is now on FREE EXHIBITION at
D. B. COOKE & CO'S,
No. 111.......................Lake Street.......................No. 111
The painting is some six by eight feet in size, and is pronounced the artist's masterpiece. Its subject combines many beauties. The Village Blacksmith represents the interior of a smithy, and the smith in the act of shoeing a large white horse, with his right fore-foot between his knees. Just as his pincers are fairly hold of the shoe, his attention is diverted by a musical footstep; and, while only half seeing, he seems to feel the smiling presence of his wife, who stands close to his side, with the dinner basket on her arm. A full-blooded hound in the foreground, absorbed in the operation on the horse, is another living figure in the picture—a group of four—a horse, one of the finest we have ever seen on canvas; a man, who is every inch a man, reminding one of Longfellow's lines,
"The smith, a stalwart man was he," &c.
—a woman, who comes in her "good cheer," like a blessing, reminding one of Woodworth's "——Creature not too bright and good For human nature's daily food."
—and a noble hound, marvelously foreshortened, reminding of Sir Walter Scott with his huntsman and hounds. It is a master piece, and we cannot contemplate it long without falling in love, at least with the woman and the horse, the unsophisticated grace of the angel and the magnificent beauty of the animal. "My kingdom for a horse"—like that, and for such a sonsie wife, we would give our heart and life!
The Cosmopolitan Art Association having purchased the above celebrated painting for the sum of $5,000, will, after its exhibition in the principal cities, place it upon the Catalogue, where it will form one of the leading paintings to be awarded to subscribers of the Association in January next, 1860.
On exhibition for 30 days only, from 7 A. M. to 7 P. M.

DR. CUTTER'S IMPROVED
Skirt Supporter,
Is an Article of Great Utility, which should be WORN BY EVERY FEMALE.
This Supporter takes the weight of the skirt upon the Shoulders, the proper place, and relieves the stomach and abdomen, of that confinement and downward pressure, which is, by the most able Physicians, said to be the greatest cause of so much weakness and premature death among females. By taking the weight of clothes from off the stomach upon the shoulders, one is enabled better to stand erect, and thereby expand the chest and breath more freely. This, every sensible person knows, is necessary to the full enjoyment of health.
There are few ladies who have worn their clothes supported by the waist who have not realized the tired, and distressing feeling, and also weakness of back consequent thereto. Then why not free yourselves from it before it is too late.
Manufactured by CUTTER & WALKER, Lowell, Mass.

The undersigned have been appointed SOLE AGENTS for the United States and Canada for the sale of the Champagne Wines
Of Messrs. JACQUES GOBEO & CO., at Chalons-sur-Marne, France. We present their Wines to the public under two brands, namely:

Parties dealing in the above article are daily defrauded by the practice of guaging up barrels. Therefore, hereafter all packages delivered from our Distilleries and Warehouse, will be inspected by Mr. T. D. H. M. HIGGINS, MUSIC PUBLISHER, 45 Lake street, has still on hand the largest stock of Musical merchandise kept by any other house in the Northwest. I am Sole Agent for the celebrated "Model Melodeon," made by Mason & Hamlin, Boston; also, Agent for Lighte, Newton & Bradbury's PIANOS, with the "Patent Arch Wrest Plank," which is used by no other manufacturers in the world, and is the most important mechanical improvement. Instead of using iron, as most makers do—which gives the instrument a metallic and disagreeable sound—or using wood in the ordinary way, which renders it necessary to weaken the part of the instrument wherein the greatest possible strength is required—by cutting across the grain of the wood, Lighte, Newton & Bradbury have a method whereby they spring this patent Wrest into proper form by the aid of steam and powerful machinery. A strain of ten tons will make no impression on the arch, while the fibres of the wood instead of being weakened by the continuity being interrupted at short distances, have their natural power of resistance greatly augmented by the peculiar form they are made to assume in the Patent Arch Wrest. Every instrument is warranted.

MORE TO BE ADMIRED THAN THE RICHEST DIADEM EVER
Worn by Kings or Emperors.
What? Why a Beautiful Head of Hair.
Because it is the ornament God Himself provided for all our race. Reader, although the rose may bloom ever so brightly on the glowing cheek, the eye be ever so sparkling, the teeth be those of pearls, if the head is bereft of its covering, or the locks be snarled and shriveled, harsh and dry, or worse still, if sprinkled with gray, nature will lose more than half her charms. Prof. Wood's Hair Restorative, if used two or three times a week, will restore and permanently secure to all such an ornament. Read the following and judge. The writer of the first is the celebrated Pianist, Thalberg:
New York, April 19th, 1858.
DR. WOOD—Dear Sir:—Permit me to express to you the obligations I am under for the entire restoration of my hair to its original color; about the time of my arrival in the United States it was rapidly becoming gray, but upon the application of your "Hair Restorative" it soon recovered its original hue. I consider your Restorative as a very wonderful invention, quite efficacious as well as agreeable.
I am, dear sir, yours truly,
S. THALBERG.
"Drych ay Gwyddeydd."
WELSH NEWSPAPER OFFICE,
No. 13 Nassau street, April 12th, 1858.
PROF. O. J. WOOD—Dear Sir:—Some month or six weeks ago I received a bottle of your Hair Restorative and gave it to my wife, who concluded to try it on her hair, little thinking at the time that it would restore the gray hair to its original color, but to her as well as my surprise, after a few weeks' trial, it has performed that wonderful effect by turning all the gray hairs to a dark brown, at the same time beautifying and thickening the hair. I strongly recommend the above Restorative to all persons in want of such a change of their hair.
CHARLES CARDEW.
New York, July 25th, 1857.
PROF. O. J. WOOD:—With confidence do I recommend your Hair Restorative as being the most efficacious article I ever saw. Since using your Hair Restorative my hair and whiskers which were almost white have gradually grown dark; and I now feel confident that a few more applications will restore them to their natural color. It also has relieved me of all dandruff and unpleasant itching, so common among persons who perspire freely.
J. G. KILBY.
PROF. WOOD:—About two years ago my hair commenced falling off and turning gray; I was fast becoming bald, and had tried many remedies to no effect. I commenced using your Restorative in January last. A few applications fastened my hair firmly. It began to fill up, grow out, and turned back to its former color, (black.) At this time it is fully restored to its original color, health, and appearance, and I cheerfully recommend its use to all.
Chicago, Ill., May 1, 1857. J. D. HOES.
The Restorative is put up in bottles of three sizes, viz: large, medium and small; the small holds half a pint, and retails for one dollar per bottle; the medium holds at least twenty per cent. more in proportion than the small, retails for two dollars per bottle; the large holds a quart, forty per cent. more in proportion, and retails for three dollars.
O. J. WOOD & CO., Proprietors, 312 Broadway, New York, (in the great N. Y. Wire Railing Establishment,) and 114 Market st., St. Louis, Mo.

HORRIBLE TRAGEDY.

EXTRAORDINARY CASE OF RESENTMENT.

A Prominent Citizen Shot Down.

INTENSE EXCITEMENT IN THE CITY.

Threatened Execution of Lynch Law.

THE COUNTY JAIL BESIEGED.

THE MILITARY CALLED OUT.

[From the Missouri Republican, last Saturday.]

There never was more excitement in the city of St. Louis, than existed among our citizens yesterday. About nine o'clock in the morning Mr. Joseph Charless, a man well known and highly esteemed, who has been a resident in this city for nearly his whole life time, and who has occupied a prominent place among her population, was shot down in a public place while peaceably walking to his place of business. Mr. Charless was on the south side of Market street, between Third and Fourth, going down, when he was met by Joseph W. Thornton, coming up, who, without any altercation, without saying a word, took from his breast a Colt's revolver, which he presented at Mr. C. and fired. The ball took effect in the left breast of Mr. Charless, passing upward obliquely and to the right, and penetrating through the abdominal cavity, and going entirely through the body. Mr. Charless fell upon his knees and hands, and while in this position Thornton fired again, the ball taking effect in the back. The wounded man crept into the trimming and variety store of P. & J. Thompson, in front of which the occurrence took place, and exclaiming that he was shot sank upon the floor.

Mr. Henry Meisner, "starter" for Wells' omnibusses, was standing at the corner of Market and Fourth streets and heard the first report.—He turned and saw the smoke from the pistol, and directly afterwards heard the second shot. He ran down and found Mr. T. Andrews struggling with Thornton in the act of arresting him. Meisner took the revolver from the breast of the assailant, and called on him to go to the Police Office, to which the latter readily assented, the two walking arm in arm together. A large concourse of people followed them. Capt. Kick learning of the transaction, sued out a warrant before Justice Herckenrath, on which the prisoner was committed to jail to await a preliminary examination.

Dr. Mc Dowell happened to be on Fourth street when Mr. Charless was shot, and saw the transaction from a distance of about fifty yards. He proceeded to the spot and tendered his professional services. Dr. McD., from an examination of the principal wound, concluded that Mr. Charless stood small chance of recovery. His wounds were of such a character as necessarily to prove fatal. Besides Dr. McDowell, Drs. Pope and Edwards were called in to render whatever aid was in their power.

Mr. Charless lay, in extreme agony, at the store on Market street, until half past 12 o'clock, when he was placed on an easy lounge and removed to his residence, near the corner of Market and Fifth streets. He was followed by a multitude of people, lining the streets for fully the distance of a block. At his residence he was visited by the relatives and friends of the family.

THE CROWD AND THE EXCITEMENT.

Reports of the terrible affair flew with the rapidity of lightning from ear to ear throughout the city, creating an intense excitement amounting almost to a panic. Soon Market street in the vicinity of the occurrence was blockaded by eager throngs pressing to obtain a glimpse of the wounded man. This was, however, for manifest reasons, denied. A rope was stretched across the pavement to the curb stone, leaving a hollow place on the sidewalk for officers who were stationed to guard the spot and keep back the swelling tide which was gathering momentarily. Besides the surgeons, only the family and relatives of Mr. Charless were allowed ingress.

When the family of the suffering man went in to behold their loved protector, perhaps for the last time, as they were apprised, the scene was the most impressive and heart-rending we have ever witnessed. Their grief was beyond description. It may be appreciated by those whose breasts have throbbed with the thrilling, poignant agitation which ensues from any rude and abrupt snapping of the tenderest ties of companionship and kindred—the unwarned breaking assunder of the most dear and sacred attachments. Sympathy may lament and condole with this sudden sorrow, but it cannot fully realize it, and it would be vain to attempt its portrayal. There seemed to be a cloud resting on the brow of all that concourse of people whilst observing that melancholy meeting, or listening to the sobs and shrieks of the family so bitterly robbed of an objec of their affection. Many turned away heart-sick.

At length the crowd became so thick around the door that nothing could be known to the great majority of what was going on inside. They then gathered in knots of four to eight, engaging in quiet conversation about the events of the morning. Little was known among them of the circumstances of the shooting, and the curiosity to hear and ascertain all was at the highest pitch. Nevertheless, all was unusually quiet, and the conversation was carried on in low tones. It was apparent that no sympathy was felt for Thornton, and but one opinion seemed to prevail in reference to the awful calamity which had fallen upon Mr. Charless. That opinion was that the occurrence was an outrage upon an unoffending citizen, an awful blow upon his family, relatives and friends, an unwarranted interruption of the public peace, and a reproach upon the city in which such a fearful crime could be perpetrated. It could not be disguised that, such was the feeling of indignation, there was a very general opinion that the punishment of Thornton should be sure and expeditious. Several expressed the belief that lynching would not be too good for him. About 10 o'clock a shout was heard from the centre of the crowd, and hundreds immediately pressed towards the spot. But opportunely several wagons came down Market street about the same time, and compelled the multitude to separate and scatter. Had it not been for this trifling circumstance, there is little doubt but that a mob would have been raised at a word, intent upon visiting summary judgment upon Thornton. Soon, however, all was quiet again, the crowd returning to conversation, or perhaps canvassing the probabilities of a mob. At half-past ten o'clock two or three men in the outer part of the assemblage moved off up Market street. There was no cry, no sign that we could observe by which it might be inferred that there was a design to organize a mob. Half a dozen or more stepped out and joined the two or three who were moving off. A score more followed, and then a general rush succeeded. In a few moments Market street, in the neighborhood of the tragedy, was almost entirely deserted. The crowd walked slowly at first, and as it gathered numerical strength quickened, until it passed Chesnut street, when with the swiftness of an infuriated pack all ran widly in the direction of the jail.

Mr. Roderman, the jailor, had received an intimation that the crowd were coming only a few seconds before they came. He conducted himself with as much coolness as the circumstances of the case would admit of. Barring the iron door of the jail office, he proceeded with his deputy, Mr. Musick, to the cell where the prisoner had been placed, and at once removed him to what is called the "blind cell," which, though not more secure from the inside than the rest, is less accessible from the outside. Other precautionary measures were taken to prevent ingress should violence be attempted, while the jailor stationed himself with weapons in the hall of the jail, to shoot down any one who might make an effort to take any of his prisoner out of his custody.

The crowd was a very large one, numbering probably from two to three thousand. Sixth street, from Chesnut to Market, was full, while hundreds were on Chesnut street in front of the calaboose. This great multitude was not composed, as is often the case, of an irresponsible rabble, but comprised many of the first citizens of the place, whose passions had been worked upon by the enormity of the horrible deed which had been committed, and by all the extraordinary circumstances of the case. Fifteen or twenty minutes elapsed, and as yet no demand had been made at the jail office for admittance, but the hum of excited murmurs seemed to be growing every moment. All that was needed for an intense outbreak appeared to be half-a-dozen resolute men as leaders.

In the midst of the excitement, Mr. James W. McClure, late a member of the City Council, got up on a wagon which stood on the street, and addressed the assemblage. We were not within hearing distance, but understood the speaker's remarks to be a review of the circumstances of the shooting of Mr. Charless, and an allusion to the indignation which was reasonably felt by the community. He counselled no violence, but rather spoke against it. He concluded by suggesting the appointment of a committee of six to visit the jail and ascertain whether Thornton was there and carefully confined. This course was adopted, being regarded in the light of a species of compromise between those who advocated lynching under the circumstances, and those who preferred to await the course of the law, though it is plain that in reality it meant nothing but to appease the former in some measure. The committee, thus constituted, composed of Dr. C. W. Spalding, Dr. Samuel, Jacob Merrick, G. W. Goodlet, F. V. Pfister and John Francisco, were admitted into the jail-yard, and were conducted by the jailor to Thornton's cell. In a few moments they returned, and Dr. Spalding, speaking from the top of the jail wall, reported to the crowd. He said he had gone there firm in the conviction that if ever lynch law was justifiable, it was so in the present case. The committee had visited the cell where Thornton was confined, and found it in every way secure, with no chance left the prisoner to effect an escape. He was now willing that the law should take its course. If the man were condemned and executed for his deep and damnable crime, nothing could be said; but if there could be found twelve men to acquit him, the speaker would be one to visit him with the punishment he deserved. But there would be time enough, he said, when it is ascertained that the law may fail to do the prisoner justice.

Considerable applause followed Dr. Spalding's remarks, but there were some who were not entirely satisfied. Cries of "Take Thornton out!" "Lynch him!" "Hang him!" were heard in several parts of the crowd. The majority of those present now began to disperse, but three or four hundred still remained, and in an hour or two the numbers increased, and vague hints of violence ran through the assemblage. At this juncture, Charles D. Drake, brother-in-law of Mr. Charless, obtained a conspicuous place, and, in the name of the family, cautioned those present against any act contrary to law and order. He spoke as the representative of Mr. Charless' wishes on the subject, and entreated them to proceed to no extremity of the kind that he had learned was contemplated, but let the prisoner have a fair and impartial trial.

Dr. McDowell also addressed the people. He said that it was objected that murder trials, as conducted in these days, were perfect farces, and that it was held that the time was come for the people to take the laws in their own hands. It was not the laws, the Doctor said, that were at fault, but the community by which they are administered. The laws were strict and just, but jurors had been lax in carrying them out, and juries are selected from the people. Dr. McDowell hoped that the crowd would not attempt to take Thornton out of jail, but that they would quietly go home and attend to their several pursuits.

Notwithstanding these speeches the assemblage did not disperse, but numbers loitered around, though by this time, we think, with no thought of attacking the jail.

THE MILITARY CALLED OUT.

By request of the Sheriff, Gen. Frost issued orders to Col. Pritchard, calling out his regiment to assist in putting down any outbreak that might occur.

B barricade was erected around the walls of the jail, and every preparation mado to repess any attack that might be attempted. At four o'clock in the afternoon, there ware probably two hundred persons around the jail, but they were evidently there as spectators only. At about half-past 9 o'clock, some boys and men approached the jail with four pieces of timber, from twenty to thirty feet long, which they brought from a lumber-yard on Seventh st. They made a rush towards the South entrance to the jail-yard with their battering-rams, but were quickly thwarted by a number of the police, on whose appearance the mischief-makers dropped the lumber and scamdered off. Stationing themselves at a safe distance, they amused themselves with throwing stones at the officers, whereupon an effort was made to put a stop to any further repitition of such proceedings. In the course of half an hour, four persons were arrested and taken to the police office for rioting. It is not apparent that in these unlawful actst there was any design to take Thornton out of jaij. The individuals engaged in them were not those who could feel any particular interests in the events of the day, further toan that they might afford some excuse for getting up an excitement, out of mere love of mischief. Aside from the above-mentioned episodes, nothing occurred worthy of mention in this connectien. Up to 12 o'clock last night no serious attempt was committed towards taking the prisoner out of the hands of the jailor.

After supper time there appeared to be a general rush to the jail. At 8 o'clock more were congregated there than at any previous time during the day. Chestnut street, from Fifth to Sixth, and Sixth street to Market, were thronged and full of people. There could not have been less than seven to eight thousand persons present. But we could not observe that a mob was contemplated; perhaps a mob was anticipated, and it was this, rather than the mob itself, which conduced to so large a gathering. The whole police force went up after roll-call, and stationed themselves in such a manner as to do service in driving back any riotous advance.

THE PARTIES.

Joseph W. Thornton is an unmarried man, in his 36th year. In his cell he appears to be quite calm and collected, and this appearance was unchanged throughout the exciting proceedings going on yesterday within his hearing. The tramp, tramp of the military, and orders of the commanders, in the jail-yard, seemed not to affect him in the least. He preserved a moody taciturnity, and refused to enter into any conversation relative to the awful deed which he has committed.

The name of Mr. Charless is so familiar that we need hardly speak of his reputation. He has been in business for over thirty years, and has always enjoyed the reputation of a quiet, law-abiding, estimable and respected citizen. His firm, that of Charless, Blow & Co., wholesale druggists, is one of high standing in the country, and has a large patronage throughout the West. Mr. C. is connected with some of the wealthiest and best families in St. Louis, and his own circumstances are those of ease and affluence. As President of the Mechanic's Bank of this city, he has been in a position to be intimately known in all financial circles, and his integrity and probity were never called in question.

At last accounts Mr. Charless was still sinking slowly, suffering the most acute pain. His medical attendants say that he cannot possibly survive, and it is not improbable that before this reaches our readers, he will have breathed his last.

In the foregoing account we have not referred to the origin of the fearful tragedy we record. An article will be found elsewhere containing a history of the past borne toward Thornton by Mr. Charless, which, it is presumeable, was the cause of this assassination. It will be long before the events of yesterday will be allowed to sleep in oblivion, and they now take a place in the history of St. Louis.

THE CAUSE OF THE TRAGEDY.

[From the Republican.]

We have never known the people of St. Louis more excited than they were yesterday, as the news spread from mouth to mouth that Joseph Charless had been assaulted and shot down, in Market street, shortly after breakfast, by Joseph W. Thornton, and that the wounds were of such a character as to make death almost inevitable. The whole town was in a buzz and a ferment. Men walked to and fro, as if some great calamity were impending, and crowds of people gathered together, putting questions as earnestly as if their own safety and reputation were at stake. In order to give some probable cause for this wanton attempt at the taking of a man's life—for cutting him off without warning, and so causelessly—it is necessary to go back some years in the town's history. There are many persons who will recollect that the Boatmen's Saving Institution of this city, then located on Chesnut between Main and Second streets, was mysteriously robbed of between $18,000 and $19,000, in notes of the Bank of the State of Missouri, and gold. At that time, the business of that institution was done mainly in Missouri paper and coin. Joseph W. Thornton was Secretary and principal Book-keeper of the concern, and had filled that place from an early period of its history. There were those who, on the discovery of the abstraction of the funds, did not hesitate to point to him as the guilty party and for a year or two he was under the strict watch of the police, and yet the Board retained him in his office for some time afterwards. Some inadequate efforts were made for the recovery of the stolen money, the Board meanwhile pledging their individual fortunes to the depositors, to save them from loss on account of the abstraction of so large a sum. The institution itself continued to enjoy the public confidence, although no satisfactory information was ever obtained in regard to the lost money. After a while, Thornton was discharged or resigned his place in the office, and it was filled by some one else. It is reasonable to suppose that he was still an object of suspicion, and by-and-by circumstances directed attention to his movements. He kept a deposit account at the Boatmen's, and the Teller discovered that he was in the habit, every week, or whenever he made a deposit, of presenting one or more of the same notes which had been paid out to him on the same check, putting them in with other Missouri Bank notes, suspected to be the proceeds of the robbery already already alluded to. His intention was, doubtless, to get all the stolen notes back into the institution by this process, and thus cover up the delinquency. Two or three years ago Mr. Thornton caused to be presented at the Bank of the State of Missouri, for redemption, some $1,200 of obliterated and soiled notes. This excited suspicion, and on being questioned as to the manner in which they came into his possession, it was stated that they were found buried under the stump of a tree, which had been pulled up by a steamboat to which it had fastened its cable, and that he had purchased them. This increased the suspicion. Mr. Charless, the President of the State Bank at that time, notified the officers of the Boatmen's Institution of the fact thus discovered. At a subsequent term of the Grand Jury, Thornton was indicted for the embezzlement of the money of the Boatmen's Institution. Mr. Charless, as his duty required him to do, appeared before the Court, and testified to all the facts within his knowledge—he could not escape, if he had been desirous ot doing so, from his duty in this respect. Br. Blood, the President, and Mr. Gaylord, the Teller, also gave their testimony in the case, and it is said that Thornton has made threats against both of these gentlemen, since that time. The Jury, on the trial of the case, acquitted Thornton of the embezzlement, and he has since been going about the city with, as it would seem, a few associates or sympathizers. It is not to be concealed, that though acquitted by the forms of law, the mass of the people believed him guilty. The assassin like attack upon Mr. Charles grew out of the circumstance which we have just stated. He waylaid him—gave him no warning to defend himself, but at once commenced firing. The attack was the most dastardly one that was ever known, and seldom has less cause been given for so foul an attempt to commit murder.

Unfortunate Speculation of a Gentleman Pickpocket—How a Lady got a $500 Ring.

A few days since, a lady on a shopping excursion entered a Broadway stage and occupied the only seat, of "six on a side," that remained vacant. Seated beside her was a person who, from his fashionable dress and his costly jewelry, she judged to be a "man of means"—whether his own or his neighbors', did not then occur to her—and apparently not an objectionable companion du voyage for a stage "all full inside. A splendid diamond ring attracted her particular observation.

Arrived at her destination—a jewelry store—she leisurely selected a few articles for purchase, but upon offering to pay the bill, made the unpleasant discovery that her purse was missing. She immediately informed the shopkeeper of her loss and described the incidents of her morning's journey. She was informed that her neighbor of the "consolidated line," was undoubtedly a chevalier d'industrie, that his brilliants were probably bogus, but that the transfer from her pockets to his was real and successful. She reluctantly adopted the conclusion, but anxiously commenced another search, which, it was supposed, would extinguish all mistake in the matter.

This resulted in bringing to light from an unexpected corner of her pocket, the identical ring which shortly before had glittered upon the hand of her light fingered friend, and which had slipped off while he was committing the delicate operation of picking her pocket.

Her admiration of the trinket was not in the least abated when, upon examination, it was pronounced to be worth five hundred dollars.

REFORMERS IN LUCK.—By the will of the late Charles F. Hovey, the leading dry goods merchant of Boston, his estate is to be appropriated as follows: to his wife $50,000; to each of his four children $17,000 each; to William Lloyd Garrison, Henry C. Wright, Parker Pillsbury, and Stephen S. Foster, $2,000 each. Several legacies are made to the relatives and the balance of the estate, which is supposed to amount to $40,000, to Wendell Philips, Francis Jackson, William Lloyd Garrison and others, for the benefit of the Anti-Slavery, Woman's Rights and non-resistant Societies.

NAPOLEONIC IDEAS, BY THE
Emperor Louis Napoleon.
1 volume. 12mo. 50 cents.
CONTENTS:
Part 1st—Governments in General.
Part 2d—General Ideas: Mission of the Emperor.
Part 3d—Question of the Interior.
Part 4th—The Foreign Question.
Part 5th—Aim of the Emperor.
Part 6th—Cause of the Fall of the Emperor.
Part 7th—Conclusion.

This is a faithful translation of the great political mark of Napoleon III., and like the original is written in a clear and vigorous style. It has the merit of being short, and of giving in a small compass the policy of France and her present government. It comes opportunely at this moment, when so many and so important interests are held in suspense upon the question of Peace or War. Louis Napoleon here gives us his views concerning the United States and their destiny.

WATER WHEELS.
Vandewater's Recently Improved
Jonval Turbine Water Wheel.
OFFICE 31 SOUTH CLARK STREET,
CHICAGO.
I offer this Improved Turbine Water Wheel to the public with the fullest confidence and assurance of its Superiority Over All Other Wheels.
Without any exception. They are well adapted to (and have been tested in,) Mills of all descriptions. They give a very steady and uniform speed, and are well adapted to very high as well as very low heads and falls. They will work well in back water without any material loss of power, and are not troubled with ice, as they are set inside of the penstock, below the degree of frost. It requires small amount of gearing to get up a high speed; costs but little to set up, and runs upon a step that needs no oiling, and will last for years. This wheel is capable of yielding a power of from 70 to 80 per cent. of the whole power of the water (according to the degree of finish of wheel) under high heads and falls, and in all cases it is warranted to work up to the power laid down in the table, and to give satisfaction when properly put up and geared.
State, County and Town territories for sale.
For further particulars see Circulars, which can be obtained at the Agent's Office, No. 31 South Clark-st.

The Wheat market opened firmer this morning, and an advance of 1c was gained, which, however, was lost about the close of 'Change on account of the New York dispatches. Later news, however, proved more favorable, and the market again stiffened—the advance of the morning being re-gained. The operations were almost entirely confined to Standard and No. 2 Spring. About 40,000 bushels of all grades changed hands at $1,50 for No. 1 Red; $1.25@1.26 for No. 2 Red; $1.09@1.11 for Standard Spring; and 99c@$1.01 for No. 2 Spring. The Flour market was inactive and unchanged. Corn was in better request and more active at an advance of about 1c. 45,000 bushels changed hands at 71½@72c afloat for Canal and River; 68½@69c for No. 1 in store; and 64@65c for No. 2 in store. At the close, owing to reported injuries to the corn crop by the recent frost, the market was very firm, with an upward tendency. Oats were in better request, and an advance of about 1c was paid. Rye and Barley unchanged. Hides steady. Nothing doing in Provisions.

GRAIN IN STORE IN BUFFALO.—We are indebted to R. S. King, of Buffalo, for the following statement of the amount of grain in store in that city on the 3d inst., compared with that in store on the 24th ult:—

NEW YORK—June 3—Receipts, 7,087 bbls flour; 1,980 bu wheat; 11,000 bu corn; 4,080 bu oats.

BOSTON—June 3—Receipts, 8,718 bbls flour; 2,900 bu corn; 700 bu oats.

ST. LOUIS—June 3—Receipts, 1,755 bags corn; 384 bbls flour; 361 sacks oats; 5,657 sack wheat. The Democrat says:—

The general market was dull to-day. The dispatches from the East caused flour to be very dull, and induced millers to pay yesterday's price for wheat. There were large sales of the former, and sales of the latter were at a decline of 5c per bushel. Corn was heavy, with no change in prices. Oats steady. Nothing was done in either mess pork or bulk meat. Sales of bacon consisted of 130 casks city shoulders at 6½c, filling orders.

CINCINNATI LUMBER TRADE.—The Commercial says the yarding of lumber is about finished. A few of the dealers have not succeeded in obtaining full supplies, in consequence of the stock in market being less than was supposed. They will be able, however, to draw ample supplies from the Michigan Lake region.

BARLEY CROP IN CANADA.—An exchange says: We regret to learn that the barley crop in the county of Kent is proving a failure. The worm has destroyed whole fields, and farmers are reploughing and substituting millet in its place.

PORT SANILAC FISHERIES.—The Jeffersonian says over seventy-five bbls, mostly white fish, had been taken at that place during the past week.

TRADE OF TOLEDO.—The Blade gives the following as the principal receipts and shipments by Lake for the month of May, 1859:

MARINE INTELLIGENCE.

MONDAY EVENING, June 6.

WEATHER.—Warm and pleasant, with light wind from the east.

VESSELS PASSED DETROIT ON THE 3D INST.—Bound Up—Prop Pittsburgh; barks Sovereign of the Lakes, Mary Stockton; brigs Young; schrs Arctic, Gem, Louisa, Lucy J Latham, Marcia, Millard Fillmore, Consuelo, Curtis Mann, Resolute, D Newhall. Bound Down—Barks Quebec, St George; schooners Ada, W J Whaling, Planet, Unicholm, Mark H Sibley, Mary M Scott, Acadina.

PROPELLERS ARRIVED.—The propeller Globe, Captain Pratt, of the People's line, arrived to-day, and the prop Iowa, Capt. Jones, of the American Transportation Co., both from Buffalo, with merchandise. The prop Ontonagon, Captain Wilkins, of the Chicago and Collingwood line, arrived also from Collingwood. She will clear for the same port to-morrow evening.

GREEN BAY ITEMS.—The Green Bay Advocate says there has been one or two slight frosts up that way lately, which, however, have done little damage. A heavy gale from the north last week raised the water in the river higher than it has been before for several years.

The crops in that section are looking finely. A much larger area of land has been put under tillage than usual.

A light house is to be constructed on Green Island. A light house on that point has long been needed, and will be of immense advantage.

A new light house is also to be built on or near the site of the present one at the entrance of the harbor of Green Bay.

The recent higher ruling prices of lumber in the Chicago and Milwaukee markets, and the prospects of good crops and good prices, have brightened up business somewhat in that section. The shingle trade is brisk—shingle is coming in from every direction. They all find a ready market. Geo. Strong bought 1,000,000 in one week, at an average of $1.50 ℔ M.

[illegible] Painful to notice, says the Oswego Times of Wednesday, the following propellers were sold at noon today, and purchased by Mr. Keep, of Buffalo. The La Crosse brought $6,800; Burlington, $8,100; Quincy, $6,100; City of Madison, $9,800. The property was estimated to be worth more than $100,000, and was sold for $35,000. We think the bids were confined to three individuals and who, we are informed, were parties interested in the sale.

HARD TO BEAT.—The schr G D Norris, Capt. Jas. Carroll, arrived here this morning from Milwaukee, having made the trip round in little less than 22 days, discharging a load of railroad iron at Milwaukee and taking in a cargo of grain. The Norris was in the Canal one Sunday during this time. We don't know who deserves the most credit, Jimmy or the schooner, but however this may be, it is certain that the trip cannot be easily beaten.—[Oswego Times.

HEAVY BLOW AND VESSEL ASHORE.—Friday night there was a heavy blow at Port Huron and on the lake above.—The steamer Columbia started out from that port to go above, but after proceeding some forty miles was obliged to return. The steamer Forest Queen, on her way to Saginaw, had not left Port Huron at eight o'clock yesterday morning, but was intending to do so about noon. The captain of the schooner F. W. Brown, which came into the river reports that he saw the brig Cleander, or one that looked like her, go ashore some fifteen miles this side of Point aux Barques in attempting to get under way from a lumber dock. He thinks she was in imminent danger as the wind was blowing hard at the time and continued so for some time after.—[Detroit Free Press.

ON AND OFF.—The propeller Illinois, in coming up the river on Friday night, run hard aground on Fighting Island. Yesterday morning the tug Clifton towed the propeller Mary Stewart down with which to lighten her. After removing a considerable quantity of her freight the Illinois was enabled to get off, and she came up to the city last evening, having the Mary Stewart in tow.—[Detroit Free Press.

COLLISION.—On Thursday night, as the bark Thomas F. Park was passing down the river in tow of the tug Red Eric, when near Malden, she ran across the bows of the bark Mary Stockton, carrying away the bowsprit, jibbooms, and all the head-gear of the former vessel and the backstays, chain-plates, and plank shear of the latter.—Detroit Free Press.

AGROUND.—The tug Elisha C. Bish, which passed up on Friday on her way to Grand Haven, run hard aground on the Flats at the mouth of the river. She was not off at last accounts.—[Detroit Free Press.

SCHOONERS OFF.—We learn that the schooners Union and Commencement which went ashore near Black Lake in the late gale have been got off.

HANNIBAL AND ST. JOSEPH RAILROAD is now open for the transportation of freight and passengers its entire length, from the Mississippi to the Missouri river. The only route that tickets passengers to St. Joseph, and by which baggage is checked through. Passengers to Kansas, Nebraska, Pike's Peak and California save from three to five days by taking this route.

This route affords the most direct, reliable and expeditious communication with Kansas, Nebraska, Salt Lake and Pike's Peak than any other railroad. From St. Joseph the Fort Kearney route is the best—only 550 miles to Pike's Peak, and via the Marysville Cut-Off will reduce this distance to 475 miles.

Steamers leave St. Joseph daily to Iowa Point, Nebraska City, Omaha and Council Bluffs, and South for Atchison, Doniphan, Leavenworth, Weston and Kansas City.

Daily Stages leave St. Joseph for all important interior towns of Kansas and Nebraska, to Lecompton, Geary City, Hickory Point and Oskaloosa, connecting with lines to Topeka, Osawkee, Grasshopper Falls, Lawrence, and Fort Riley.

Passengers from Chicago and Northern Illinois, Detroit, Mich., and the East, will find this, in all respects, the most desirable, quickest, and shortest route to Pike's Peak.

PERSONAL.

We learn from the Chicago Times that S ator Douglas arrived in this city on Mond evening, and took quarters at the Trem

House. This gentleman's garments hav been thoroughly purged of the smell of Fr

Soil, there was no demonstration kicked over the event. Last summer his return the unsubdued rebel and the temporary cha

THE LATE FROST.

The injury to the growing crops, by th frost on Friday night has, without doubt, be greatly exaggerated. Frost in June, is, this latitude, so unusual, that we do n

wonder when it occurs, that it sends a shiv of fear down into the boots of every farm that has green fields exposed to its bitin touch. But in the words of Mr. Squeer will be found, we take it, that the wheat h suffered little damage, and that the corn thoug blackened as if by the touch of fire, will in few days resume its healthy color and rap growth. We shall soon know the worst.

CHICAGO PRODUCE TRADE.

The receipts of breadstuffs during the pa

102,868 bu wheat; 281,719 bu corn; 20,09

bu oats; 2,226 bu rye; 4,430 bu barley.

The shipments during the same period wer

The receipts and shipments since Jan

THE FOREIGN NEWS.

The news by the steamer City of Washing ton, whose mails reached New York yester day, embrace several features of peculiar in terest. The Vienna correspondent of the Lon don Times says that the losses of the two a mies at the affair of Montebello were abou equal. There was another fight at Vercell on the 21st. The Austrian account says the 15,000 of the allied forces attacked 3,000 Aus trians and drove them to Oslengo, on the lef bank of the Sesia, where a reinforcement ena bled the latter to make a stand and force the allies back to the west side of the river.

was reported that all the Austrians had retired from Lake Maggiore. The most important movement, however, is the reported retirement of the Austrians from Milan and Como, and their concentration on the river Adda. The Adda rises near Bormio in the Valtelline dis trict, traverses lakes Como and Lecco, passes some twenty miles east of Milan and joins the Po a few miles west of Cremona. This would seem to be a virtual abandonment of the capi tal of Lombardy to the allies, who were rapid ly advancing. Garibaldi, with 5,000 men, ha barricaded himself in Varzo, a town of Novar but was without cannon. The Austrians ha attacked him with artillery.

Hungary is in a critical position, and an ou break was expected at any time. The countr is said to be full of Russian agents who ac almost openly. A general insurrection is als reported as being organized throughout the Slavic provinces of Turkey, on the Danube.

A coalition has been formed between Lor

Palmerston and Lord John Russell, on the qu

tions of Parliamentary reform and foreign poli icy, to upset the Derby ministry.

The Bey of Tunis has offered two auxiliar regiments to Sardinia.

The British town of Aden, in Arabia, at th mouth of the Red Sea, has been nearly de stroyed by a storm.

THE CITY CLERKSHIP.

After a fortnight's silence, the Democr opened out on Sunday morning in Long John best style. This time the topic was the relig ous divisions of society. He divided the R publican party into three classes, viz: Fir

Christians; Second, Infidels, and the rest creation are set down as Jews. There a three representative man-embodiments of th

dogmas and virtues of these three denomin

tions [according to John's Epistle in th

Democrat. Mr. Kohn is put forth as the repr sentative of the Jews, H. Kreismann Esq. of th

Infidels, and the Hon. John Wentworth as th embodiment of the Christian graces and d trines. John classifies the Germans as Infide the Americans as Christians, and the balance the people as Hebrews. He asserts that a b gain was made when he joined the Republica party, that one portion of the offices were to given to the Jews, another share to the Ame

icans and the residue to the Germans, and th

this bargain is not being carried out in go faith. He says that the Christians have secur their portion, and the Teutons theirs; but th

the Infidels now object to let the Hebrews ta their share of the spoils! He threatens to m at the head of the Christians, like Peter the H

mit, and smite the wicked Infidels hip and thigh

unless the Germans fulfil the stipulations of th treaty of alliance.

Nearly two columns of his Sunday's issue are d voted to this matter. The pretext that furnish him a chance to spin his yarn was a very p

one; but he was itching for an opening to pit in and abuse somebody, and make trouble in t party if it were possible; so he hit on the a pointment of Kohn as City Clerk, which has been confirmed by the Council. The facts o matter, as Wentworth himself understands th are these:

The Mayor appointed Mr. Kohn to the o of City Clerk. The Council, in the meanwh when reducing official salaries, abolished the sistant Clerkship, theretofore filled by Mr. Mar and when the question of confirming Kohn's pointment came before the Council, it was o
